SUPERVISORS BACK

Mitchell And Lyon Return From Capital With Similar Report

Confirmation that United States army engineers would supervise work on Orange county's flood control project was received here today from Frank Y. McLaughlin, California director of Works Progress Administration.

With the allocation of federal funds for the project coming through WPA, Mr. McLaughlin shortly before noon telephoned Supervisor W. C. Jerome and said:

"You can definitely say that army engineers will do the work."

"Make the statement as strong as you please. You can add that my department wants to see the program carried on in Orange county and that it is desirable from every angle that those in government authority can view it."

Mitchell, Lyon Return

The conversation with Mr. McLaughlin placed the official verification of the report brought back from Washington, D. C., by Chairman John Mitchell and Supervisor LeRoy Lyon. Upon their return today they declared that just a few hours before their departure from the capital they were told, unofficially, by army engineers that they would supervise the project. The army officials promised official verification within a few days.

The supervisors also announced that cost of the project has been (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

AUBURN SLAYER MUST HANG

AUBURN, Calif., Sept. 30. (AP)—Earl Kimball, 21-year-old prospector, was sentenced today to hang at Folsom prison for the murder of James G. Kennett, sr., by Superior Judge James B. Landis, of Placer county.

Kennett was slain last July and his body was hidden in a mine from which it was recovered by the sheriff and his deputies. Kimball also admitted the killing of an unidentified youth but he was tried only on the one case.

The Journal is pleased to announce the appointment of T. R. Alvord as advertising manager effective tomorrow, Oct. 1.

Mr. Alvord, who joined the Journal's advertising staff shortly before the paper was started last May, has proven his ability to assume greater responsibilities and this expression of confidence comes as a reward for faithful service.

Previously to Mr. Alvord's connection with the Journal, he was identified with the advertising department of the Register here for some eight years.

VOTE URGERS ORGANIZE

New Group Is Headed By Cotton; Seeks Action At Polls Friday

Hamilton H. Cotton, San Clemente, prominent Democrat, is backing a new group which took the field today to get out the favorable vote at the county water bond election next Friday, it was announced by W. M. Martin, local real estate dealer.

Mr. Cotton is vitally interested in seeing the bonds carry, Mr. Martin said today. He recalled that the San Clemente leader was instrumental in bringing about increases in federal loans on Orange county citrus groves, and that now he is desirous of seeing the water program succeed, both for the good of the county and as a protection to the loans that have been made.

The workers will have their headquarters in Mr. Martin's office at 207 1/2 North Main street. Mr. Martin, who conferred yesterday with Mr. Cotton, said that today workers were in the field today urging citizens to vote. Mr. Cotton has collected funds from Orange county persons interested in a big vote on the project, Mr. Martin said.

There will be no advertising and no attempt to influence the voters one way or the other, but they will be given an opportunity to tell how they stand, said Mr. Martin.

On election day 50 cars will be provided to transport favorable voters to the ballot boxes if they wish to, he said.

NAB SUSPECT IN SANTEE SLAYING

Man Taken In Arizona Says Negro Killed Hog Ranch Woman

MONEY WAS REASON

Victim Was 'Tapped' On Head At Breakfast; Pair Then Flew

GLOBE, Ariz., Sept. 30. (AP)—San Diego and Gila county officers said today they had a signed statement from Paul D. Petro, arrested here in connection with the slaying of Mrs. Catherine Geer, that he witnessed the fatal clubbing of the woman on her Santee hog ranch near the California city.

Petro's statement placed the blame on James J. White, Negro whom San Diego authorities said they believed was in Los Angeles. Mrs. Geer was struck on the head by an iron pipe Tuesday morning, Sept. 17, Petro's statement read. Petro contended he asked the Negro not to carry out plans for robbing the woman of $500 which she had received in payment for 23 hogs.

"Tapped Her on Head"
He told me he was not going to kill Mrs. Geer," Petro continued, "but was merely going to tap her on the head and get the money and beat it."

"On Tuesday morning, Sept. 17, while we were eating breakfast, we had some milk that was sour and he said he was going to get a glass of ice water from the ice box."

"He got up and went over to the ice box. When he came back he was in the rear of Mrs. Geer. He hit her on the head with a piece of iron rod with a rubber hose on it. She fell off the chair pocket and tied her wrists behind her. Then he tied her ankles and tore some sheets into strips and gagged her."

"I went outside to see about the windmill and when I returned he pulled me by the hair of my head and said: 'You're going to die!'" (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 3)

YOUNG SLAYER CITED BY JURY

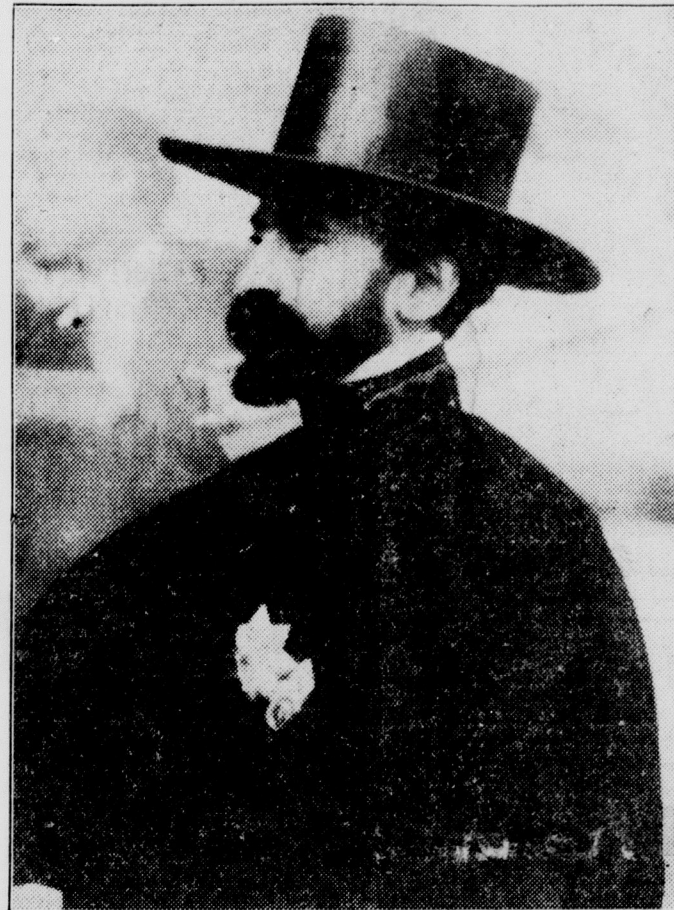

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30. (AP)—A coroner's jury today returned a verdict that Mr. and Mrs. Henry Steinhilber had been poisoned to death by their nephew, Thomas Leroy Drake, 19, who calmly testified that he had not missed attending church or Sunday school for five years.

"Did you know they had changed their wills in which they had left everything they possessed to you?" he was asked by Deputy District Attorney Percy Hammond. "Not until I was informed by the detectives," said Drake.

FRIEND HALTS TWO MILLION DEATH ACT

Fast Work By Santa Ana Man Stops Suicide Attempt Here

A. R. Peterson, Glendale, owes his life today to the quick action of a friend, Howard E. Morgan, 2025 Bush street, Santa Ana.

Yesterday evening when Mr. Morgan returned home he found that an hour earlier a letter addressed to him had been delivered at his home. The letter was from Mr. Peterson and informed Mr. Morgan that he intended taking his own life. The note said that Mr. Peterson had become despondent and that he wanted to end it all.

Mr. Morgan immediately rushed to the Y. M. C. A., where Mr. Peterson had been living since last Wednesday. The door to his room was locked. An attendant, Hubert Thomas, was called, who hurried to the room with a key. Upon opening the door, they found Mr. Peterson on the floor unconscious. Nearby was a partially emptied bottle of poisonous disinfectant.

A doctor was called and Mr. Peterson was ordered removed to the Santa Ana Valley hospital. Later he was transferred to the Orange county hospital, and hospital authorities reported today that although his condition was critical, he would recover.

Metropolitan Plans No Flood Work Here

That the Metropolitan Water District has no intention of building any flood control projects or dams in Orange county was indicated in a letter received here today by the board of supervisors from F. E. Weymouth, general manager and chief engineer for the water district.

The letter also indicated that flood control development in Orange county is entirely independent of the water district and should be considered independently and on its merits. Neither project will conflict with the other, the letter declared.

Proponents of the bond issue saw in this letter a formal declaration that the Metropolitan Water District has definitely withdrawn from the picture in connection with the forthcoming campaign for the $6,620,000 bond issue to be voted on here next Friday for the purpose of providing Orange county's share of the flood control project.

Selassie Ready To Call Followers To Arms; Outbreaks Denied

By JAMES A. MILLS
ADDIS ABABA, Sept. 30. (AP)—Emperor Haile Selassie was prepared tonight to call for a general mobilization of approximately 2,000,000 fighting men.

All that remained in the way of such action was to determine from his representatives in Geneva whether the League of Nations would fail in efforts to prevent an Italian attack.

Busy Denying Rumors
The government was kept busy issuing official denials of unfounded rumors. Among the rumors denied was that the general mobilization would be Tuesday or Wednesday, that Italy had begun hostilities in the north, that Italian aviators were flying daily over Ethiopian territory, and that two shipments of Japanese munitions had arrived.

An adviser to the king of kings asserted that if necessary 2,000,000 Ethiopian warriors would soon be marching.

Calling the League of Nations' attention to the "increasing aggression," Haile Selassie said in his telegram to Geneva: "The time has come when to Geneva. (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 4)

NEWPORT IS READY

Welcoming Program Is Tentatively Set By Two Communities

The Santa Ana Journal today sent a telegram to President Franklin D. Roosevelt at Boulder City, Nev., urging him to stop here tomorrow en route to San Diego.

The telegram was sent after a story published in morning newspapers led people to believe that the presidential party would pass through this city. On the strength of this story thousands of people are expected to be in the city. The telegram urged the president not to disappoint them.

The Telegram

"President Franklin D. Roosevelt, Boulder City, Nev.,

"Santa Ana and Orange county people hoping your party may stop here, planning big turn-out to welcome you. Uncertainty of plans last moment leaves many in doubt. The Santa Ana Journal extends friendly welcome and hopes it will be possible for your train or your automobile party to pause long enough for you to say 'howdy' on your way to San Diego."

"SANTA ANA JOURNAL," "By Ray W. Felton, editor."

If President Roosevelt does stop in Santa Ana plans to welcome him will be in the hands of H. C. Head, prominent Santa Ana and Orange county Democrat. If possible the presidential party will be welcomed by Mr. Head and the mayors of the 13 Orange county municipalities. The President will be introduced and asked to speak. At noon today Mr. Head has not received word as to the President's plans.

Soiland Offers Yacht
When the possibility of President Roosevelt visiting Orange county was first apparent, Dr. A. Soiland, prominent Los Angeles physician, admiral of the Newport Beach Yacht club and personal friend of the official family, went to Washington and invited him to visit Newport harbor and inspect the progress made in developing the harbor under federal aid.

Admiral Soiland also offered his yacht to the President for use in making the trip from Newport Beach to San Diego. President Roosevelt is a yachting enthusiast and spends considerable of his rest periods on the water.

Plans for a reception at the yacht club were tentatively discussed, and Saturday Mayor Herman Hilmer, Dr. Soiland and officials of the Newport harbor chamber (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 2)

SHIP AGROUND OFF JAMAICA

Liner Standing By To Rescue 976 On Board Stranded Vessel

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—The British steamer Ariguani was standing by in a calm sea today to take off the 450 passengers of the Rotterdam of the Holland-American line aground on a reef 60 miles southeast of Kingston, Jamaica. A crew of 526 is aboard. The first attempt to float the liner off the reef was unsuccessful.

His latest message read: "Grounded west side Morant Cays. First attempt to float her unsuccessful. Weather fine. Making arrangements to forward passengers per Ariguani to Kingston. Passengers very quiet."

The Ariguani was loading at Kingston and was scheduled to sail tomorrow for England. She docked at Kingston Sept. 26. When word reached Kingston the Rotterdam was on a reef, the Ariguani put out to her assistance.

Bound for New York

The Rotterdam was bound back to New York after a cruise to St. Thomas in the Virgin Islands and to La Guayra in Venezuela. She was putting into Kingston after touching for a few hours at Willemstad, on the island of Curacao. A view of the master's statement regarding the calm sea, the reason for the groundings of the liner on Morant Cays—to the south of the famous windward passage between Cuba and Haiti—was not known to the line's offices. It was first thought the Rotterdam might have been blown into the Cays by the hurricane which now is sweeping past Bermuda after veering away from Florida.

Have No Fear

The officers here had no fear for the safety of passengers.

JOHNSON PRAISED AT DAM Should Bear His Name--Ickes

BOULDER DAM, Nev., Sept. 30. (AP)—Harold Ickes, secretary of the interior, in speaking as presiding officer at the dedication of Boulder dam today, gave the major credit for this mammoth structure to Senator Hiram Johnson, California, who led the fight in congress for it.

"It has been well said," Ickes stated, "that if this dam should bear the name of any living person, then it should be christened Johnson dam."

"I may say, however, that Senator Johnson shares the belief that this great engineering achievement should not carry the name of any living man but, on the contrary, should be baptized with a designation as bold and characteristic and imagination-stirring as the dam itself. Well may he regard Boulder dam as the greatest achievement in his productive life as a statesman."

BOULDER DAM DEDICATED BY LEADER

Structure Is Cited As Good Example of Work By Government

'THROW IN CLUTCH'

Private Industry Must Carry Burden of Work Problem, He Says

BOULDER DAM, Nev., Sept. 30. (AP)—On the site of the government-built world's greatest dam, President Roosevelt today told private industry "it must bear the principal responsibility of keeping the processes of greater employment moving forward with accelerated speed."

Mr. Roosevelt, in dedicating the Boulder canyon dam in the Colorado river, cited it as an example of useful government work, assured that the federal works' efforts find the credit of the government "stronger and safer than at any time in the past six years," and proposed a state power line from this project as a "yardstick" to measure the cost of power throughout the United States.

'Throw In Clutch'

Devoting the theme of his address on the banks of this towering 727-foot high structure to the government undertaking to "throw in the clutch to start the wheels of what we call private industry," the President observed:

"It is a simple fact that government spending is already beginning to show definite signs of its effect on consumer spending; that the putting of responsibility to work by the government has put other people to work through private employment, and that in two years and a half we have come to the point where private industry must bear the principal responsibility of keeping the processes of greater employment moving forward with accelerated speed."

Discussing the power "yardstick," Mr. Roosevelt stated: "It is my belief that the government should proceed to lay down the first yardstick from this great power plant in the form of a state power line, assisted in its financing by the government, and tapping the wonderful natural resources of Southern Nevada."

The President also strongly defended the countless other federal projects of smaller nature now underway through the rapid-fire jobs-making Works Progress administration.

Waste Of Money

Pointing to the vast use of Boulder dam in preventing floods, irrigating and providing power, he asked, "can we say that a five-foot brushwood dam across the headwaters of an arroyo, and costing only a millionth part of Boulder dam, is an undesirable project of a waste of money?"

"With it all," he continued, "with work proceeding in every (Please Turn to Page 2, Col. 1)

FLEET STARTS DRILL TODAY

SAN PEDRO, Sept. 30. (AP)—America's defenders of the seas—more than 100 warships and 400 fighting aircraft—moved into the Pacific today for four days of tactical exercises to be climaxed by final maneuvers before President Roosevelt.

The brief war game, it was believed by naval officers, will be the first ever witnessed on the high seas by a chief executive of the United States. On Wednesday, President Roosevelt is scheduled to board the cruiser Houston at San Diego, steaming out to the scene of the watery "battle."

EIGHT KILLED TODAY IN CHICAGO TENEMENT FIRE AND EXPLOSION

NAB SUSPECT AS FIRING IS HINTED

Some Leap From Windows, Others Burn to Death in Tragedy

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Eight persons, four of them the children of one family, were killed today in a fire and explosion which gutted a three-story tenement building. Eight others were injured.

Frank Vitale, owner of a grocery on the first floor, was taken to a police station for questioning. Vitale admitted he carried $3000 insurance on the store and had closed it yesterday afternoon for the first time in 15 years.

He denied any knowledge of the cause of the blaze.

The explosion rocked the block and before most of the 20 occupants of the building could make their escape flames swept through the entire structure. Those not burned to death were injured in leaps from windows.

The four victims in one family were Daniel and Pasquella Cappa, 10-year-old twins, and their brothers, Philip, 4 and Ralph, 12.

The other fatalities were: Joseph Grasso, 40; Virginia Grasso, 16, his daughter; Mrs. Rose Angelasano, 43, and Rachel Angelasano, 24, her daughter. Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan launched an investigation saying there was evidence the fire was incendiary.

(Continued from Page One) one of the more than 3000 counties in the United States, and of a vastly greater number of local divisions of government, the actual credit of government agencies is on a stronger and safer basis than at any time in the past six years. Many states have actually improved their financial position in the past two years. Municipal tax receipts are being paid when the taxes fall due and tax arrearages are steadily declining.

Proudly detailing the far reaching purposes of human benefit hoped for from the new dam, Mr. Roosevelt reiterated his determination to complete similar undertakings in the other three corners of the country—the Tennessee valley experiment already underway in the Southeast; the Grand Coulee dam project nearing completion in the Northwest; and the proposed St. Lawrence waterways development, although he did not specify the latter three proposals.

"Today marks," he said, "the official completion and dedication of Boulder dam, the first of four great government regional units. This is an engineering victory of the first order—another great achievement of American resourcefulness, skill and determination. The President recalled that Senator Johnson, California, and Phil Swing, former representative from California, started the legislation which made the dam possible and related the hopes for which the structure was built to harness the turbulent Colorado and provide power, prevent floods and make possible future homesteads.

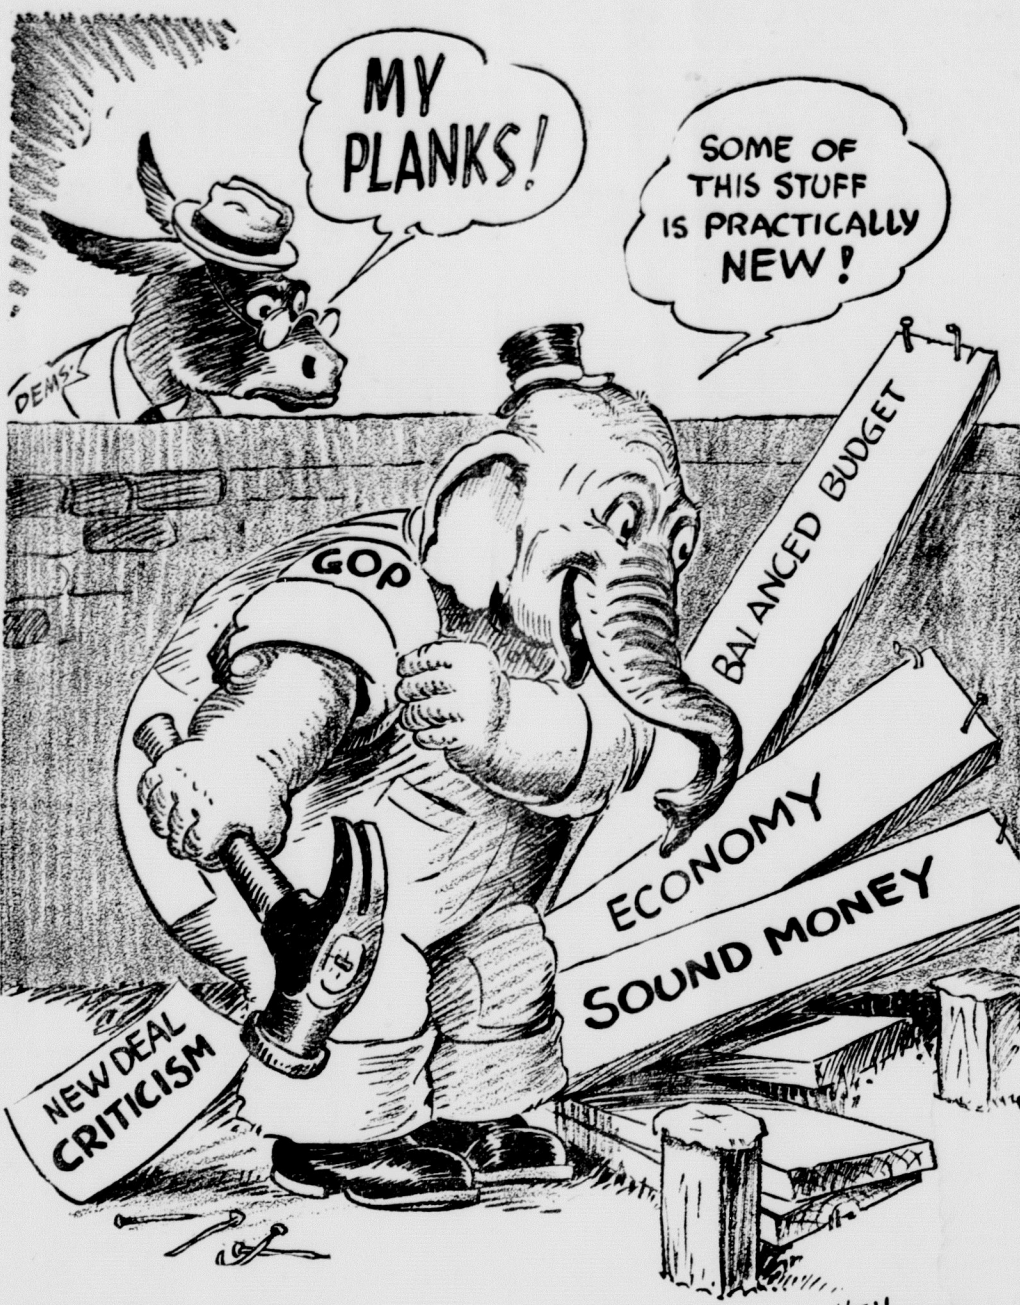

CELLARS UTILIZED AS GAS SHELTERS

ISTANBUL, Sept. 30. (AP)—Turkey, joining the nation worried about poison gas attacks, has ordered that ancient palaces having vast wine cellars, and the many subterranean, Byzantine cisterns, be fitted as shelters against possible aggressions from the air.

The government also has decreed that special courses on gas defense be given free in schools. Turkish military experts say the Straits and Istanbul, with her 700,000 inhabitants, are vulnerable to aerial attacks, and the defense must therefore be concentrated on these points forming the vital junction between Thrace and Asia Minor.

MORE ABOUT SHIP

After missing the Florida coast Saturday night the storm curved toward the Bahamas. An aerial survey of that section today showed no lives were lost but property damage was great. The death list in Jamaica was placed at two while the fatalities in Cuba were placed at 35, with more than 300 injured.

Narrowly missing the southeast Florida coast as it swept northward into the Atlantic, the storm was moving about 20 miles an hour. It still carried winds of full hurricane force.

The district's aqueduct system is designed for the purpose of importing water from the Colorado river to augment supplies which already exist or which are feasible of being developed locally. The district is not building flood control projects and has no plan for the construction of any reservoir on the Santa Ana river or elsewhere in Orange county, which would be useful for flood control purposes.

The proposed flood control development in Orange county is entirely independent of the district aqueduct, and should be considered independently, as each project has its special merits, and neither is in conflict with the other.

It severely criticized church custodians of jewels and religious art, pointing out that it was only natural thieves should be tempted.

In many instances vast fortunes in jewel-studded furnishings have been in charge of an untrained caretaker who watched them only during visiting hours.

This was the case at Pamplona where thieves easily sawed a soft-

LEAKY FOUNTAIN PENS

A small leakage between the head of a fountain pen and the ink barrel is caused by the joining parts being worn by constant screwing and unscrewing in refilling. Smear the screw of the head with vaseline before screwing it up and this makes an ink-tight joint and insures a clean hold of the pen.

Suede combined with silk fabrics are to the front in afternoon shoes this season. Crepe, moire, tulle and other strong silks are being used to dress up the suede effects.

With the new combination of materials, the late afternoon shoe achieves a new quality and makes it okay for street. Suede by itself is the star performer in fabrics.

No other leather is quite so dramatically a fall shoe material. Nor is there any so flattering to the foot. Smoother surfaces wanted this fall by women naturally put the suede in front as an especially smart choice.

TERRY'S STORY RETURNS

Postmaster's Work in Reader

A small boy walked into Postmaster T. E. Stephenson's office the other day and proffered a slip of paper upon which was written, "Attacked by an Ostrich" by Terry E. Stephenson.

"My teacher wants to know if you are the man who wrote that story," said the lad.

Mr. Stephenson remembered having written such a story for the Youth's Companion years ago.

"Where did you find it?" he inquired.

"It's in the sixth reader at school. I go to Muir school, and my teacher is Miss Miller," the boy replied.

Investigation disclosed that the story, published in the Youth's

Companion in 1920, had been incorporated in a book entitled, "Real Life Stories and Heroic Deeds," a sixth grade reader compiled by W. W. Thiers, assistant superintendent of schools at Milwaukee, Wis., and Sterling A. Leonard, associate professor of English at the University of Wisconsin.

The story has an interesting local angle, for it is based upon an experience with an enraged ostrich which befell the late Father S. John O'Sullivan, padre for many years at San Juan Capistrano mission. The incident occurred in a pen of the huge birds owned by Father Quetu, another priest at the mission.

$625 FOR TWO GOOD SLAVES

Officer Has Old Sales Slips

In connection with several Indian depredation claims being pressed against the United States government by California Highway Patrolman Dan Adams, Tustin, some interesting photostatic copies of 100-year old documents have recently come into Mr. Adams' possession.

Three of these papers are receipts for money paid by Mr. Adams' grandfather, Peter S. Adams of Tennessee, for Negro slaves. Strange reading they make today, though as ordinary in those long ago days as are receipts for money paid for beans or oranges to a Californian of today.

"Rec'd 22nd January, 1828, of Peter Adams," reads one of them. "Six hundred and twenty-five dollars and 12½ cents in full consideration of two certain Negro slaves, to-wit, one woman named Lucetia, about 27 years old, and her child, a boy, named Benjamin, aged about nine years, which Negroes I warrant slaves for life, and I also warrant them healthy, and also warrant title to the said Peter Adams from me, my heirs and all other persons claiming the same. Signed, Herman B. Walton."

Peter Adams' wife, Sarah Walton Adams, was a cousin of Daniel Boone, and the Herman Walton whose name appears in the receipt quoted was undoubtedly a member of the same family.

Another receipt is for $400 for having "bargained, sold and delivered unto Peter Adams of McNairy county, Tennessee, a certain Negro man named Bryant, aged 23, warranted sound, healthy and sensible as a slave for life."

A third paper acknowledged receipt of "$300 in full payment for a certain Negro slave girl named Rhoda, aged about 13 years, sound and healthy and free from any known impediment whatever."

POLICE REPORTS

Sept. 29, 5:26 p. m. Call from Hubert Thomas, Y. M. C. A. building. A man by the name of A. R. Peterson, living in room 230 in the Y. M. C. A. building, had assertedly attempted to commit suicide.

Mrs. Martha Jewett, Tustin, while walking across Fourth street at Main Saturday afternoon, was struck by a car driven by Morgan D. Shaver, 425 West Eighth street, Santa Ana. Mrs. Jewett was slightly injured.

Gerardo Gonzales, 31, and Marcel Gallegos, 32, both of Garden Grove, arrested Saturday and charged with drunk driving after the car in which they were riding had collided with a parked machine in the 1700 block on West Fifth street. The parked car was registered to A. G. Baker, Garden Grove. Neither of the two defendants would admit he had been driving the car.

REVISE SPEED AT CROSSING

Designed to facilitate traffic movement, certain exceptions to the 15-mile an hour speed limit at view-obstructed intersections are now permitted on through or signal-controlled highways by a new state vehicle code amendment. The Automobile Club of Southern California itemizes the following changes:

At through highway or controlled intersections in a business district, the 20-mile per hour speed limit which applies in all business districts shall prevail.

If in a residence district, the 25-mile residence district speed limit.

Elsewhere, a maximum limit of 30 miles per hour through obstructed intersections on through highways, or which are traffic controlled, whether on through highways or not.

The new limits are merely exceptions to the old law, and do not imply that a motorist may travel through any blind intersection at 20, 25 or 30 miles an hour. They apply only to through highways protected by boulevard stops signs and at intersections where traffic is controlled by stop and go signals. At all other blind intersections the speed limit is still 15 miles per hour.

The vehicle code defines an obstructed intersection as one where a driver, during the last 100 feet of approach, does not have a clear and uninterrupted view of the intersection and of traffic upon all entering streets for a distance of 100 feet from the intersection.

Brick Dust

Here and There With The Journal's
Rambling County Editor

By T. N. (BRICK) GAINES

SEAL BEACH'S Mayor Elmer Hughes is the first county dignitary to announce, officially, his entry in Newport Beach's horseshoe pitching contest, scheduled for early in October.

Mayor Hughes is going into the contest grimly determined to bring back all cups, trophies and ribbons to Seal Beach, according to a report from his community.

The report says "Trainers of Mayor Hughes say they'll put him on a spinach diet to give him an iron nerve, massage his muscles, train his eyes, improve his footwork, ease his mind, teach him to pitch horseshoes and have him in perfect condition to represent Seal Beach and bring back the championship trophy."

Looks like mayors from the other 12 county communities are going to have some competition. Our man, however, is still Mayor Billy Hale of Fullerton. We have it all figured—Bill will refuse to train for the contest, and'll just take his corn-cob pipe from his mouth, stick it in his hip pocket and start firing shoes until all other mayors give up in disgust. He's a sure winner.

HUNTINGTON BEACH'S new postoffice is going to be completed pretty soon. Too bad Jim Farley's gone home—they could have invited him to dedication ceremonies, like Orange did. Maybe he'd show up, this time.

They say that the new building's one of the best in this territory—has everything that a postoffice should, including a secret tunnel where inspectors can watch employees without being watched themselves.

Cost, when the building is finished, will be about $40,000. They are going to buy all new equipment, and the structure is said to be the most costly building in the community.

That's two new postoffices in Orange county within a short time. Now if Anaheim can just get started on their building—there are rumors that will be pretty soon—we'll be well supplied in the county.

WE WERE sorta angry at Buena Park's industrial parade Saturday, although it was none of our business. People from the surrounding territory came early to watch the parade. Parking spaces were at a premium. One man had parked his car, and family, at the intersection of Manchester and Grand avenues, probably coming early to get such a vantage point. He was as close as he could possibly get to the line of parade, leaving just enough room for pedestrians to get by.

Along about parade time, some sort of an official car, with an exempt license, anyway, rolled up in front of the waiting family and the driver haughtily surveyed the situation and then backed right up in front of the parked machine. It didn't mean anything to him that his car was blocking the sidewalk and that the waiting family couldn't see through him. And the man who had come early to get his place and had waited and waited and waited, just had to grin and like it. Nice.

WE STILL wish we could have seen the parade when it finished—couldn't find where they were going to disband. Were sort of worried how one float would last through the parade route—right behind the decorated vehicle was a string of ponies. The ponies apparently had a taste for peonies, or whatever flowers were used for decoration, because they were chewing away as fast as they could.

LONG after the parade was over and people were going elsewhere for their entertainment, one last entry struggled by.

It was a man, mounted on a donkey. Watchers reported that the beast had a stubborn streak somewhere up the line. Refused to budge. His rider was just as stubborn, however, and made the little animal finish the trip, even if the parade was over.

H. B. RECEIVES PERMISSION TO EXCEED TAX LIMITATION

STATE BOARD APPROVES RAISE

To Construct New Sewage Plant; Casino Project Turned Down

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Word was received here today from the State Board of Equalization that the request of the city to exceed the 5 per cent increase in municipal expenditures for the purpose of building a new sewage disposal system has been granted, but the city's request to exceed the limitation to construct a casino was denied.

The permission is conditional upon securing a 40 per cent grant from the government, the board of equalization pointed out. Plans will now move forward for construction of the $170,000 sewage disposal system on a 38-acre site east of the city limits. F. S. Currie of San Bernardino has completed plans and specifications for the plant.

The only alternative for the city in building the casino or recreation hall on the beach is to call a bond election. City officials had planned erection of a $30,000 casino to replace the present structure now standing under the pier.

Koppl, secretary of the organization, resigned to accept a position. The first meeting of the year is scheduled in the school auditorium next Thursday. But unless new officers are named to carry on work of the organization, it is possible that no meeting will be held. It is rumored that unless someone accepts the positions, the P. T. A. may be discontinued for the year.

Household Arts

Soft, cuddly animal toys are the favorites of nursery-age youngsters and wise is the mother who realizes how easily and cheaply such toys can be made. No need to buy new material for these; the left-over scraps of calico, chintz or other novelty cottons are adequate and so colorful. With only two simple pieces required for each toy, not counting the ears and elephant's blanket which are separate, the stitching and stuffing are completed in no time at all. Then watch the merriment when you bring out long-eared "just like we saw at the circus!"

In pattern 5255 you will find a transfer pattern for the animals shown; directions for making them and material requirements. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to Santa Ana Journal Household Arts Department, 117 East Fifth street, Santa Ana, Cal.

PINKY GREENE DRAWS TOUGH ONE FOR START

UPON the stalwart shoulders of Santa Ana High school's own Reece "Pinky" Greene tumbled a tough job Saturday. But the man proved his worth as an A-1 arbiter in addition to his coaching ability.

Greene refereed at the U. S. C.-Montana melee in Los Angeles Memorial coliseum and the fracas turned out the toughest on that turf in years. The Trojans, fighting to regain some lost prestige, were scrappy, determined; Montana, with a fair-to-middlin' gang, was willing to take no sassa.

Greene and his three aides called 15 penalties. That alone is not remarkable, but the fact that they did so without drawing furious fire of the partisan Los Angeles sports hounds most certainly is noteworthy.

Greene even had to eject a couple of the boys because of rough antics and there wasn't a single antagonistic word from the press. Trojan Bill Gaisford and Brandenburg, the Montana end, clashed violently and when they started saying it with fists Coach Greene wasted no time chasing them from the field.

Proof that Greene's work was that of an over-officious official is carried in a statement made after the game by Herb Dana, commissioner of officials for the Pacific Coast conference. He said: "At my instructions and in keeping with our policy of protecting the game and players while not disregarding the spectators, the officials bore down heavily upon this as well as all other first games of the season on the coast."

"Those instructions were given because after a long layoff the boys have forgotten certain natural tendencies toward holding and unnecessary roughness can not be tolerated. The players learn this rapidly when penalized, and all future games are benefited as well as the boys themselves protected."

Must be some truth in Dana's observations in spite of the strict watch-dogging eight Trojans went to the hospital from the game.

LAST STRIKE CALLED IN 1935 BASEBALL. EXCEPT for the world's series, the organized playing, they called the third strike yesterday in 1935 baseball. And right in the face of the Gloomy Guses it has been one of the best seasons in years.

New marks were set right along the line and the world series attendance evidently will substantiate the interest as indicated during the season. Both Chicago and Detroit are series-men.

Not the least colorful outcome of the year was the 21-game winning streak of the Cubs, the longest and longest string in baseball history and the longest since 1916 when the New York Giants lived up 26 victories.

On the other side of the record, too, is the 115 games lost by the Braves—a modern baseball record. But, knowing no despair, Owen Yawkey has promised to team next year in an attempt to spend another million on the bringing a pennant to Beantown.

The endurance boys had their funnings, too. Lou Gehrig played in 149 games to hit his ring to 1935 consecutive contests and Gus Suhr of Pittsburgh established a new National league mark of 628 games.

SEALS COLLECT P. C. PENNANT LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30. (AP)—For the first time in more than two years the Pacific Coast league pennant was not flying from the mast at Wrigley Field today.

San Francisco's Seals hauled it down yesterday when they battered five Los Angeles hurlers for 22 hits in a doubleheader that ended the 1935 playoff series, four games to two. Ten thousand persons saw the invader's walk-off home run, 6 to 3, and then come back to win the flag with an 8 to 2 triumph.

Saints Play Here Again Nov. 2; Dons In Three Local Night Games

By PAUL WRIGHT

University of Southern California's omnipotent freshmen, represented by 75 ex-prep celebrities, storm the Municipal bowl here Friday night to match their brilliant talent with that of Santa Ana's Dons. The non-conference football treat is expected to attract a $1000 gate.

Santa Ana's Saints, victorious over Orange 6-0 and Pasadena Muir-Tech 7-6 in two home appearances, will be on the road for the next three weeks, so it will be up to Bill Cook's junior collegians to furnish all of the grid entertainment here until Nov. 2, when the preps tangle with Alhambra in a Coast league game at Poly field. The high school goes to Inglewood Friday.

The Dons will play at home until their Eastern conference battle with Chaffey at Ontario Oct. 26. After the Trojans come the Riverside Bengals, Southern California champions, to open the league season here a week from Friday night. Citrus, the "giant killer" of the conference, is here Oct. 19.

Three Great Safeties

The Trojans are three-deep at every position, and particularly dangerous at quarterback with Ambrose Schindler, all-Coast Preparatory league flash from San Diego; Orville Matthews from Chickasha, Okla., 9.6 secs. sprinter; and Hal Seeling, shifty triple-threat from Hollywood.

Hobbs Adams, ex-San Diego High school mentor, is coach of the U. S. C. freshmen, who opened their season with a 13-6 victory over Citrus Junior college's stubborn eleven in Los Angeles Saturday. The Trojans naturally were not as well organized against Citrus as they will be against Santa Ana.

Dons Develop Rapidly

The junior collegians have shown in their past two assignments with Pasadena Junior college and Pomona college varsity that they will be prepared to extend Hobbs' all-star array. The Dons are coming along rapidly on offense, as evidenced Friday when they outgained the Sageshens, 321 yards to 196, and 14 first downs to 7, while losing to Pomona, 15-6.

Inglewood High school drubbed San Pedro, 26-0, in its opener. Dick Arnett's Sentinels undoubtedly will provide plenty of opposition for Bill Foote's Saints at Inglewood Friday. Santa Ana makes the long jaunt to Santa Barbara a week from Saturday before ushering in its Coast league season at Long Beach Poly Oct. 19.

The Saints came through the game with Muir-Tech with only minor injuries, and will be at full strength against Inglewood. No scrimmages with outside opposition have been slated for the week. Motion pictures, taken by the game with Muir-Tech, shown by Clyde Patton, will be shown following drill Wednesday or Thursday, Coach Foote said.

GRID BATTLES TOUGHEN UP THIS WEEK

By the Associated Press

With Saturday's games little more than matters for post-mortem discussion, major college football teams prepared today for sterner tests ahead.

In most instances the high rating aggregations turned back the opposition without much difficulty, but many of them will clash this week with opponents not accustomed to being pushed around.

In the Southwest, Texas Christian, with a 28-11 victory over North Texas teachers in its wake, will tackle Arkansas, the team that Christian bowed to 24 to 10 last year, while the University of Texas, conqueror of Texas A. & I. on last Saturday, will face Louisiana State.

The defeated Texas A. & I. will play Baylor this Saturday; Southern Methodist takes on Tulsa and Temple and Texas A. & M. are due to mix. Rice and Duquesne have another battle slated.

Bruins Meet O. S. C. In the far west Oregon State, fresh from a 26-0 victory over Williamette, will meet the University of California at Los Angeles. St. Mary's, which licked Nevada, 20 to 0 Sunday, will battle California at Berkeley.

Santa Clara takes on Washington; Utah university tangles with Oregon; Stanford meets the University of San Francisco at San Francisco; College of the Pacific meets Southern California at Los Angeles; and Idaho meets Gonzaga at Spokane.

Irish Play Carnegie Notre Dame, showing signs of return to her old time glory when she subdued Kansas 28 to 7 on Saturday, will face a team that caused her plenty of trouble even in the height of her power, when she journeyed to Pittsburgh to take on Carnegie Tech. Tech was hard put to nose out a 6-3 decision from Case on Saturday.

Illinois meets Washington university, Carroll and Chicago collide, Centre meets Indiana and South Dakota takes on Iowa. Other games which will bear watching in this territory are Nebraska-Iowa State at Ames, Michigan-State at Ann Arbor and Marquette-Wisconsin at Madison.

BEST BALL SCORES ARE CARDED BY WRIGHT, WALLACE H. S. Wright and Lew Wallace carded a 75-10-65 to triumph in best ball sweepstakes at the Santa Ana course Saturday. Ben Osterman and Roy Langley, 86-11-75, and M. E. Wellington and M. N. Thompson, 84-9-75, were other winners. Mrs. Don Andrews and Mrs. E. H. Guthrie defeated Mrs. H. H. Harwood and Mrs. N. W. Miller, 1 up, for the championship of the defeated flight in the women's high-low tourney.

Cubs Exhibit Power at Plate But Not in Style of 'Murderers' Row'

By DICK STROBEL

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Seek as you might, you'll find no proverbial "murderers' row" on the roster of the Chicago Cubs.

You'll run across a number of fellows whacking the ball around for better than 300 averages and you'll even discover that the aging Gabby Hartnett is among the National league's leading hitters.

But that doesn't begin to tell the story of the Cubs' astonishing newly found power at the plate which hoisted them to the crest of baseball's senior circuit in the closing weeks of the pennant fight.

Deadly consistency and timeliness provide some clues to the team's sensational spurt. Cold statistics don't disclose the other major factor—spirit.

These Carefree Cubs Never has Chicago known such a carefree bunch of ball players, who, to all appearances, would rather play the game for the sheer fun of it than for the gold and glory of victory.

They come to bat with a smiling, swaggering confidence and blast out hits so audaciously that rival pitchers are left shaking in their shoes.

Witness the 21-game winning streak that was climaxed by their ascension to the league leadership. Rosy-cheeked Gabby Hartnett, in 16 games, compiled an unbelievable average of .422. Frank Demaree, during the same stretch, hit .403. Four others were well over .300.

Bat Work Is Best

Thus, it goes without saying that the Cubs are well supplied with offensive weapons. The team as a whole tops the National league in the batting department, with an average of .299. Augie Galan, Stan Hack and Billy Herman boast averages nearly as good as Demaree's and Hartnett's.

Almost as indicative of the team's strength is the performance on the field. The Cubs handle the ball with a cool, deliberate nonchalance. Sloppy plays are as rare as a burlesque queen's blush.

In Billy Herman at second base and Billy Jurges at short, the Cubs possess one of the finest defensive combinations in the game. They lead the league in double plays, and with Phil Cavarretta at first and Stan Hack at third, comprise a youthful, alert, sparkling infield which Manager Charley Grimm calls the best in the business.

His powerful right arm still as sure as ever, Hartnett adds the necessary ingredients toward making this an air-tight combination from his position behind the plate. Few there are who taunt him with an attempted steal, and fewer are they who succeed in perpetrating such a travesty on his reputation.

A Young Outfield

In the outfield, the Cubs' three young ball hawks, Galan, Lindstrom, and Demaree, aren't fallible as judges of fly balls, but the occasion is rare when one slips past them.

If the team has any weaknesses, Grimm won't admit them. Nine-year-old Phil Cavarretta, the Chicago boy who took over Grimm's job at first, lacks experience and isn't too proficient at the plate. Galan likewise requires seasoning, although he has done an unusually efficient job in his first year as an outfielder.

Jurges is a poor hitter. The rest of the team, despite the youth of some its members, has had plenty of training in the big time. Sure of itself, confident of its own ability and fearing no one, it appears as an outfit capable of scaling all the heights baseball has to offer.

U.S. GOLFERS CUBS TO START WARNEKE WIN RYDER CUP PLAY

By BOB CAVAGNARO

RIDGEWOOD, N. J., Sept. 30. (AP)—The 1935 Ryder cup golf matches, which resulted in a 9-to-3 victory for the United States, showed definitely that the American style of play—shooting for the pin rather than just the green—is slowly "taking" in the British Isles.

American greens are much smaller than those in England, where most players are content to land anywhere on the putting surface. But two young Britons, 23-year-old Jack Bussan and 25-year-old Bill (Wifty) Cox, made an indelible impression on the home forces yesterday with their boldness in going for the flag.

Gene Sarazen was only one of five single victories scored by the American team, but it was the most thrilling from a spectator's standpoint. It attracted a crowd of upward of 3000.

The other American singles victories resulted as follows: Paul Runyan defeated Dick Burton, 5 and 3, five down at the 25th; Johnny Revolta came back to edge out Reginald Whitcombe, 2 and 1; Mrs. N. W. Miller, 1 up, for the championship of the defeated flight in the women's high-low tourney.

Cochrane Will Use Bridges

By CHARLES DUNKLEY

CHICAGO, Sept. 30. (AP)—Lon Warneke, the prize of the Ozarks, will oppose the Tigers in the first game of the world series, opening in Detroit Wednesday.

This was the decision today of Charley John Grimm, manager of the Cubs.

"You can publish that in the paper right now," Grimm said, "and if you want to know some more, Root will go after those guys on Thursday. And if either of them gets in trouble, Larry French will go to his relief."

The Cubs, who returned to Chicago last midnight after winding up the season in St. Louis, had other things on their minds aside from practice. They planned to meet to agree on a division of the world series bag of gold, and then to pack their bags for their trip to Detroit.

While the Tigers were losing two games to the White Sox, in the windup of the season yesterday, Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Bengals, expressed confidence in his players to triumph over the Cubs, declaring pitching alone would return them victors in six games. He planned to start Tommy Bridges, Schoolboy Rowe and Eldon Auker, in succession, in his attempt to baffle the Cubs with a different style of pitching each day.

MAMA READY AT RINGSIDE FOR FRAY

Hustlin' Hungarian Has Little Chance Against Two Man Mountains

By FRANK ROGERS

Sandor Szabo hasn't a pigmy's chance to beat Man Mountain Dean at the Orange County Athletic club wrestling show tonight. There's one good reason for that observation and it's not Man Mountain. It's Mama Man Mountain.

Having once been threatened himself by the murderous matriarch of the Dean family, Promoter Sam Sampson has blithely announced there is no possible means of keeping the blonde brutess out of the stadium while her 317-pound papa tangles with the Handsome Hungarian in a three-falls to a finish struggle.

Remember Last Week

Last week Mama Man Mountain rushed to the rescue of Papa when the latter ran afoul of Paul Boesch and Ivan Managoff in a wild rumput. Szabo watched that melee from the sidelines. He saw the enraged woman fly into the ring and defend her fallen mate like a savage of the jungle.

Tonight, as he crawls gingerly into the square to meet Man Mountain, Szabo will likely be regretting that he did not take unto himself a husky frau before he left his native Hungary for the wilds of America where women are sometimes men and men like Man Mountain are glad of it.

If he can keep his mind off the fact that Mrs. Dean is sitting in a vantage spot at the ringside ready to skip into the fray, Szabo has an excellent chance to defeat the giant so-called hillbilly. He is 10 times a better wrestler. The idol of county matadors, who once staved off the attacks of the Georgian behemoth for 30 minutes here, thus winning under the handicap rules of the contest.

Big Mental Hazard

But chances are the mental hazard will be too great. Every time he takes a punch at Palooka Dean he will have one eye on Mama Man Mountain and will be ready to apologize each time he hurts the big fellow. Who can win a wrestling match under those circumstances?

The fall football influence makes itself felt in the supporting card with Casey Kazanjian, ex-Stanford griddler, taking on Hugo Chapman, New York, in a 45-minute tattle. Al Bisgano, one-time Fordham great, tussles with tough Roughhouse Fred Carone and Tony Felice is slated to meet either Harry Kent, ex-Oregon State footballer or George Malone, former light-heavy champion of Ireland.

SHAKY TROJANS ARE REPLACED

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 30. (AP)—Second stringers who made good in the narrow defeat of Montana found places on the Trojan varsity today as Coach Howard Jones overhauled Southern California's 1935 football machine.

The so-called first team failed to score against the Grizzlies, but the battling subs pushed over nine points Saturday.

With the record against Montana in mind, Jones' changes in the first string for the engagement with the College of Pacific here next Saturday probably will include: Gaisford for Thurlow at left end; Belko at left tackle, over Preininger and Hull; Dittberner at right tackle ahead of Jorgensen, and Thompson and Pappas, the latter from Seattle, Wash., dividing quarterback duties.

650 PRESENT AT PENSION PLAN RALLY

More than 650 Townsend movement supporters gathered in mass meeting Saturday night for a chicken dinner and program at the Ebell clubhouse.

Suggesting the Townsend plan as a possible remedy for present economic maladjustments, Harry Westover, Santa Ana attorney, made the evening address. The speaker stressed the hope that greed for gain would not lead the world into another war. Rather should money be spent constructively to realize such a vision as the Townsend supporters have, than to waste it on war, was the attorney's contention.

Walter R. Robb, manager of Santa Ana headquarters, presided as master of ceremonies. The Men's Community Bible class played during the dinner. Herbert F. Kenny led the group in community singing, and the Rev. Everett Johnson of the United Brethren church gave the invocation.

An accordion solo, "The Sharp-shooted March," was presented by Miss Dorothy Mae Eddington, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Eddington. Readings were given by Mrs. W. F. Rockwell, Grant Henderson, and Dorothy Tubbs. An original poem by Peter C. Briney about the Townsend plan was read by his daughter, Miss Bertha Briney.

John W. Doughty, Tustin, and Charles A. Schief, Santa Ana, sang several duets, accompanied by Mrs. Harriet Benton of Tustin.

How Counties In State Got Their Names

The story of how California counties derived their names is an interesting part of the history of the Golden State. Believing that the thousands of tourists who annually motor over the state's great highway system would like to know how the counties they visit came by their names, Director of Public Works Earl Lee Kelly has had prepared from state records a series of brief stories of the origin and meaning of the names of the counties of California, including a few salient facts about each county.

HUMBOLDT COUNTY Created May 12, 1853. This county derived its name from Humboldt bay which was named for Baron Alexander von Humboldt, the eminent scientist, by Captain Ottinger of the ship Laura Virginia.

Known as the "Redwood Wonderland," Humboldt combines every known economic attraction with the advantages of mountain, forest and coast scenery, a world port and a famous highway. Industries range from the growing of flowers to the shipping of lumber and livestock, with butterfat, lumber, wool, beef, fruits and berries as the principal products. For 108 miles this county stretches along the scenic coast of Northern California, separated from Oregon by Del Norte county and with an average width of 35 miles between the Pacific coast and Trinity. Rhode Island and Delaware could be placed within its boundaries and there would be 543 square miles to spare.

NIGHT SCHOOL USED CARS IN CLASSES TOLD BETTER LIGHT

Planned to give a background for intelligent newspaper reading, a world geography class will be opened this semester on Tuesday nights at the Willard Evening High school. Miss Thelma Moorehouse will be teacher of the class. Current events in their historical significance will be discussed, Miss Golden Weston, director, said today.

Two classes in wood carving have also been announced for Tuesday afternoon and evening at Willard. William P. West, who will also give a course in photography Thursday evenings and not Tuesday as previously listed, will teach the class. He has put an exhibit of wood carvings and enlarged snapshots on display in the window of the Bell Dry Goods store to be kept there over the week-end.

For the first time, library services will be extended tonight school students, at Lathrop Monday and at Willard Tuesday, from 6:30 to 9. Students will be given freedom of the library for the first half hour, and Mrs. Susie Lamb will give a course in library usage at 7 o'clock.

The date for machine bookkeeping has been changed from Wednesday to Mondays, including instruction on different machines in office use.

NEW BUICKS ON DISPLAY HERE

Crowds attending the show-rooms of the Reid Motor company here Saturday to view the new 1936 Buick models which made their initial nationwide appearance on that day.

"With the most striking changes ever presented by Buick and with a reduction in price, the new Buick emphasizes economy as well as comfort," according to Wm. R. Gordon, manager for the Reid company who are distributors for the county.

"The new 1936 line embraces four series with 14 models," said Mr. Gordon, "and has a wheel base range from 118 to 138 inches. All models have Fisher turret-top steel bodies and hydraulic brakes.

"Streamlined from bumper to bumper, the new bodies are much roomier and luxurious than ever before. The new engine, which is a development of 32 years' experience in building valve-in-head motors, is oil-cushioned throughout, a paramount consideration of designers to meet the requirements of speed and guaranteeing uniform temperature at all points."

USED CARS IN BETTER LIGHT

One of the most significant changes that has taken place in the automotive world during the last few years is the attitude of the public toward the used car, according to George Dunton, local Ford dealer.

"There was a time when the average buyer was afraid of a used car," Mr. Dunton said. "He believed he was taking a chance whenever he purchased a car that had seen service in the hands of a previous owner. However, that condition no longer exists, and the motor car dealers themselves have brought about this change in sentiment.

"Reputable dealers realized that their reputations meant something to the people in their respective territories, and they placed those reputations back of their used cars, just as the manufacturers backed their new automobiles.

"Because of Ford's great sales volume, Ford dealers everywhere had large stocks of good used cars, and they led the way, so to speak, in the matter of guaranteeing the performance of their reconditioned automobiles. This built good will and increased their new car sales as well as their used car business.

"So it has come to pass that the public now views the purchase of a used car with confidence, realizing that the guarantee of the dealer will be fulfilled."

The American home steps into the spotlight this week when Santa Ana and the rest of the United States observes National Furniture week, dedicated to the 25,000,000 homes in which are centered the activities of the nation's families.

Furnishings of all kinds—fresh from the industry's factories... are ready for the fall season, when America, after a summer of outdoor recreation, returns home for the winter months. From the basement to the attic, from the living room to the kitchen... for the farm home and the Park avenue penthouse... for the two-room kitchenette and the forty-room mansion... nothing has been overlooked.

"National Furniture week has only one purpose," it was asserted in headquarters at Chicago, "and that is to focus attention everywhere on the importance of the American home and its furnishings."

Furniture Factories Busy Cooperating with the four national furniture associations, are thousands of factories producing literally tens of thousands of items that go into the furnishing of the modern home and the furniture and department stores of the nation, bringing these new creations to every city and town in the country.

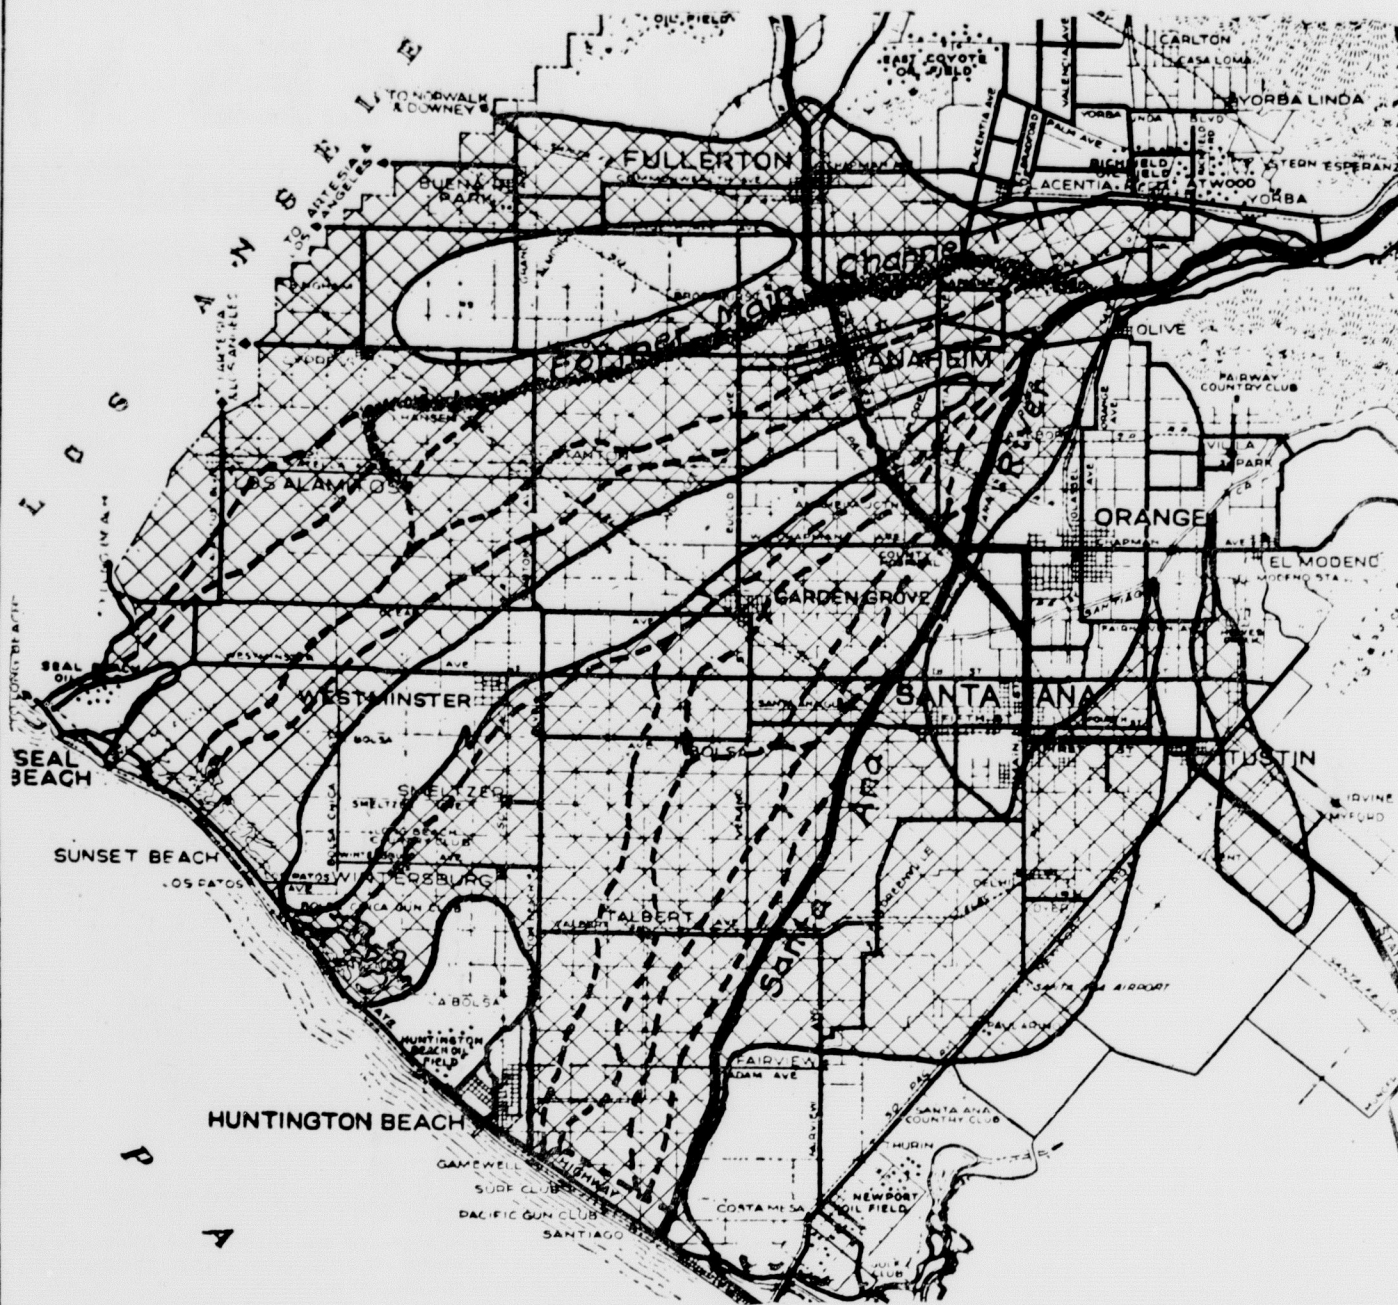

"If you need new furniture, buy it now, but whether you invest a cent in new furnishings, devote some thought to your home this week," the home makers of the nation were advised. "Attend the displays arranged by furniture dealers. You'll find new ideas in decoration on view... new ways to make your home more comfortable and more livable. Rearrange the rooms you haven't touched for years... freshen them with new ideas, new furniture, or both. Make America's homes this fall better places in which to live and in which to rear Americans of the future," is the word.

Styles Change in Years Prices for furniture and related lines have risen little from the depression low, it was pointed out, thus affording an opportunity to accomplish much, at relatively small cost, that may not be repeated. By next January, according to forecasts by authorities in the industry, prices will be 10 per cent higher, due to steadily increasing costs for raw materials and the continuation practically throughout the industry of NRA wages and hours.

The last few years have brought great changes in the home furnishings field, leaders have pointed out. The well-furnished home, 1935 model, bears as little resemblance to its predecessor of ten years ago as do the modern motor cars compared to 1926 models. While certain general styles, favorites for generations, continue in vogue, as always, there have been countless improvements and modifications, making furniture more useful, as well as more beautiful.

53,500 COUNTY ACRES FLOODED IN 1916 STORMS

Orange county does not want a repetition of the January, 1916, flood, when four people were drowned, 1150 acres of farm land totally destroyed, and more than 50,000 additional acres inundated, causing damage through erosion, cutting of channels, and deposits of river sand and debris. Engineer's sketch, with shaded areas, shows total of 53,500 acres inundated, including cities, villages, and farms. Dotted lines from river to ocean show main channels followed by storm waters. Heavier line, between Anaheim and Fullerton, shows former main channel of the river. The Santa Ana valley was built up by river floods of the past and is almost entirely subject to overflow damages unless a protective flood control dam in the Santa Ana canyon is built to check the large flood flows, with subsequent conservation of these storm waters, through percolation, into our underground basin. Similar conditions prevail on all other county streams, all of which are to receive protective works under the flood control and water conservation bond issue submitted for the approval of voters Friday.

FLOOD CONTROL ESSENTIAL TO COUNTY'S FUTURE SAFETY

To the Citizens of Orange County:

Safety from floods, which bring huge property losses and threat to human lives, is necessary to the future happiness, growth, and well-being of Orange county. Upon this point all have been agreed for years.

Property owners in areas which may escape the flood are taxed, after any such flood, to replace losses to public property, especially highways and bridges, and to make up any loss of tax money through the destruction or damage of private property in the flooded area and its consequent reduction in assessed values.

The prevention of flood losses is a county-wide objective, which concerns every property owner, whether in the valley, on the mesa, or high upon a hill. EVERYONE, wherever located, shares in the cost of a destructive flood. All will help pay flood losses AFTER they occur, continuing for many years, or share in the cost of protection to PREVENT such losses before they occur. And we know that future floods are bound to occur, just as they have periodically come throughout this valley in the past.

The importance of stopping flood losses becomes increasingly important each year, as new homes are built, new highways laid, new bridges and public schools built, and new residents arrive who do not know our flood history of the past. A flood which drowned 1000 cattle a century ago might very easily today drown a hundred people and cause millions of dollars worth of damage to our modern improvements. Our population has more than doubled since the 1916 flood, and many millions have been invested in improvements in the flooded area.

Each year of unusual rainfall brings its menace to unprotected homes, ranches, and cities, and past rainfall records show up to 40 inches of rain in one season. In January, 1916, ten inches of rain fell in one month, and the season's total was more than 23 inches. Similar seasons of heavy rains will surely come again, as they have in the past.

THE COST OF ONE FLOOD, IN ADDITION TO THE LOSS OF LIFE, MIGHT VERY EASILY COST THE TAXPAYERS OF ORANGE COUNTY FAR MORE THAN THE COST OF PROTECTION, and especially so at this time, when $6,374,000 is offered as an outright grant from the Federal public works and job fund, which saves us nearly half the cost.

Study the facts, which we have tried in every legal means possible to place before you, so that you may be able to vote intelligently upon this important question at the election Friday, Oct. 4. The responsibility of determining Orange county's water destiny is YOURS, at Friday's election. We will have completed our official duty by compiling the facts affecting the issue and placing them in your hands.

Individuals come and go. Principles and communities remain. The entire purpose of this water and flood control program is to carry out the principle of protection for lives and property, which has been found wise, and to enable Orange county, as a community, to continue to go forward.

Sincerely yours,

BOARD OF SUPERVISORS OF THE ORANGE COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL DISTRICT

Prado Dam Site Was Picked 50 Years Ago as Place for Storage of County's Water

Right now most everybody in Orange county is thinking water. Way back into the early history of Orange county—or rather the territory then known only to the padres and the Mexicans—irrigation was practiced. Soon afterward the white man found he could use water from the Santa Ana. Then began the great drama which has extended to the present. The Journal in a series of articles, will picture the early day struggles, the successes and failures, that marked man's effort to make the desert bloom.—Editor.

By ROCH BRADSHAW

Geologists 50 years ago picked the upper Prado site as a logical place for a dam on the Santa Ana river and predicted that it would be built at that spot.

Their vision of the future was recalled by J. E. Parker, Orange, who encountered two Santa Fe railroad geologists in Santa Ana canyon in the 80's while he was surveying for a pile dam. This dam, to be built below the intake of the Santa Ana Valley Irrigation company canal, by driving piles down to bedrock, was planned to cause the underground water to rise to the surface.

These geologists were planning the location of the Santa Fe railroad through the canyon. They told Mr. Parker that the bed of the river was in a crevasse that had been filled up with sand and gravel and that he would have difficulty in finding bedrock for the pile dam. This proved to be true, Mr. Parker recalled.

Interested in Slide

The railroad men were very much interested in Sulphur slide, on the south side of the river, but could find nothing on the north side to match it.

"They wanted to know if I knew anything like it to the south. I took them to see the sink in the head of Limestone canyon. They said it was the same character of slide and surveying the road to San Diego, they found it again at San Clemente mesa, where there was a bad slide awhile ago."

The geologists favored the upper Prado site as being better than the lower one, Mr. Parker recalled. They predicted that a dam would be built there some day and that it would be a safe protection from floods.

"So convinced was I on the subject of location of the dam that when the lower site was proposed I voted and worked against it, believing doing so was for the best interest of the county."

Right Location

"Now I am sure we are on the right location, after years of fooling around. So now let us all work and vote for the bonds. Now is a fine time to save every drop of water, for it is a crime for any water to flow into the sea."

At the same time, said Mr. Parker, the county must conserve all the water possible, including the Metropolitan aqueduct water.

"The end of the Metropolitan water district is Cajalco dam. Where will our three cities and Long Beach go from there with their water? Will they, or would they come into Prado reservoir for storage? Our three cities could take water from the dam and filter it through the sand to their city pumps, the surplus filling the basin for future use. They cannot sell or give away this water, but they can store it. I think some arrangement should be made with them, for if the cities thrive, the country will, and if the country does not thrive the cities will not."

WATER BONDS SUPPORTED BY MANY

Orange county has a "bargain day" opportunity to secure water conservation and flood control, indorsement of the water program by civic leaders showed today.

"The depression has made bargain hunters of all of us," said S. W. Stanley, Tustin rancher and treasurer of the farm bureau. "Now—where will you find a greater bargain than is offered Orange county today? Viciously needed flood control for the whole county, and conservation of many thousands of acre feet of water annually. All of this at half price. Do not be misled. Inform yourself of all the facts. Your vote should be 'Yes' on the bonds."

The proposed bond issue is for $6,620,000, while the Works Progress administration has made a grant of $6,374,000, which awaits approval of President Roosevelt.

Wallace Urges "Yes"

To avoid a "very definite depression in farm values in Orange county," which would result if no immediate move were made to conserve water and obtain conservation of wasted flow, a "yes" vote on Oct. 4 has been urged by Lew Wallace, Newport Beach realtor and insurance broker.

Mr. Wallace was one of those who, in his own words, "spent a great deal of time and some money to help defeat the $16,500,000 bond issue in 1929." He has informed Chairman W. H. Spurgeon of the citizens' flood control and water committee that he is strongly in favor of the bond issue and would actively support it. He urged an overwhelming "yes" vote.

Short excerpts from statements made by other leaders follow:

J. E. Lewis, superintendent Yorba Linda Water company: "Intelligent people plan ahead, knowing that they will want to eat and drink a few years hence. The rancher spends money setting trees, the merchant for advertising, good will, well established records indicating a very decided shortage of water in Orange county, also extensive losses in case of flood, we have no alternative if the future is to be provided for."

Morris Approves

C. W. Morris, director, Yorba Linda Citizens association: "Our supervisors have provided a plan, worked out by engineers of proven ability and wide experience, whereby we may get protection against dangerous floods, and what is also most essential, water conservation—all at a cost which we cannot hope to lessen at any time in the future. The plan has my hearty approval."

E. H. Darling, Garden Grove pharmacist: "I most heartily indorse the flood control project."

E. R. Schneider, Garden Grove merchant: "Having lived in Orange county all my life, I certainly realize the value of water conservation and flood control. We need water conservation now more than ever before."

E. J. Herbert, Fullerton building contractor and rancher: "If the present rate of decrease in water levels continues, it means: elimination of at least half of the ranches in the county, a loss of at least half of the business of the towns, greatly increased taxes for the remaining taxpayers. Mr. Voter, can you see anything but disaster for all under these conditions? Vote 'yes' on the bonds."

Others Urge "Yes"

L. J. Bushard, lima bean grower of Talbert: "The program is well worth the money to the people of Orange county as a flood measure alone without the important feature of conservation. Floods of 1916, 1922 and 1927 in my district of Talbert caused many thousands of dollars damage and cost two lives."

Dr. D. D. Waynick, citrus grower and manager of the Association, Lake Arrowhead, Anaheim: "The protection and conservation of water supply in Orange county is fundamental to the continued existence of agriculture. The longer we delay the more serious the problem. We will probably never be able to develop a water conservation program at lower cost than is presented by the present opportunity."

John W. Crill, Garden Grove, president of the Orange county farm bureau: "We do not want abandoned farms or ghost cities. Without water that is our assured fate. Vote the bonds."

William Bielefeldt, Placentia citrus grower: "I bought my citrus land one mile south of Placentia in 1907. I dug a pit and put my pump at 64 feet. In the 28 years since that time, the water levels have dropped 128 feet and I am using my fourth well. This is one of the reasons why I am working hard for the water bonds, up for vote next Friday."

GIRLS GATHER IN GARAGE FOR SCOUT WORK HERE

Using a garage as a meeting place, 127 Santa Ana girls each week participate in constructive activities from which they learn the art of becoming good citizens, it was shown today by the report of the Girl Scouts of America, covering their activities for the past year.

Fifteen women of the community are giving their time to serve as leaders of these groups of girls. Such expenses as have been necessary have been paid by the volunteer leaders in addition to the time which they have given. Mrs. A. W. Rutan, president of the council, reported.

The need for community support of the movement is now being urged in order that additional girls may become members and have these activities for their leisure hours. The girls at present are organized into six troops for the older girls and two Brownie groups for the younger girls, the report said.

"Santa Ana has several thousand girls who are eligible for participation in this character building program," Mrs. Rutan said, "and it is essential in these days that every girl be given the opportunity of coming in contact with and participating in those types of activities that will prepare them for balanced womanhood and to carry on the ideal embodied in motherhood in America."

WHAT'S IN SHIPS' NAMES?

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30. (AP)—Tradition going back to George Washington's day will guide Secretary Swanson in picking names for the 17 new naval vessels now under contract.

There is an almost ritual-like ceremony to be observed in carrying out policies first started, according to story, when President Washington pulled the names for the nation's first half dozen ships from a silver punchbowl.

At that early stage, the story runs, the navy heads had 12 names and only six ships. Because they couldn't get together they wrote the names on slips of paper and dumped them in the punchbowl, Washington ending the argument by picking half of them at random.

Wealth of Precedent

Since then a wealth of precedent for naming ships has grown up and there is even a law that battleships must be named for states. Cruisers, by accepted usage, are named for cities, submarines for fish, aircraft carriers for famous

POLYGAMY TRIAL SET FOR OCT. 11

SHORT CREEK, Ariz., Sept. 30. (AP)—A preliminary trial for three Short Creek residents charged with polygamy was transferred to Mojave county superior court when J. M. Lauritzen, justice of the peace, refused Saturday to admit for identification a birth certificate introduced by the state. The superior court hearing at Kingman was set for Oct. 11.

County Attorney E. Elmo Bollinger said the certificate would establish an illegitimate birth in the community which would have an important bearing on the case.

1ST AND 17TH CORNERS TO GET ROBOTS

Busy Intersections Now Provide Problem For Through Traffic

Santa Ana is going to increase its force of "robot" traffic officers. The automatic cops who raise their arms and flash "Stop!" and "Go!" are going to be stationed at First and Main and at Seventeenth and Main streets in the near future.

Street Commissioner Ernest Layton said today that he has asked City Engineer J. L. McBride to get in touch with the state department of public works in regard to the new signals. Since Main street is a state highway, the installations must have the approval of the state department, Mr. Layton said.

Each Set Costs $1650

It is planned to pay for the devices out of the city's share of the first one-quarter cent allocation of gas taxes. Each set of four signals will cost $1650, installed, said Mr. Layton.

The chief problem at Seventeenth and Main streets is speed, while at First and Main streets it is one of congestion. Mr. Layton explained that cars traveling south onto Main by way of Santa Ana boulevard often do not slacken their pace sufficiently by the time they reach Seventeenth street, and the signals are to be installed to correct that condition, said Mr. Layton. He said he had found that automobiles going south travel eight or 10 miles an hour faster at this point than those going north.

The Seventeenth and Main street signals will be kept open for north and south traffic four or five times longer than for east and west traffic, he said.

Busy Corner

The first and Main street intersection is one of the busiest in the county. Although on certain days peak traffic at other points is heavier, the total number of cars passing this intersection on the average is larger than the average for any other point. It was shown in a survey by the state about one year ago.

Installation of new signals at these two intersections will mean that Santa Ana will have five crossings where motorists have to watch for directions from "robot traffic cops." Signals have been in operation for a number of years at Fourth and Main streets, Fourth and Sycamore streets and at Fourth and Broadway.

ANTI-FIRE WEEK NOTICE URGED

National fire prevention week, scheduled for Oct. 6 to 12, should attract the attention of everyone interested in real estate, it was said today by James H. Berry, field representative for the Federal Housing administration.

"The FHA has made it possible for any home owner, merchant or business property owner to eliminate the fire hazards which are apparent in many sections of the city as well as suburban areas," said Mr. Berry.

"Every prospective builder of a home or business property should give serious thought to making his house or building as completely fireproof as possible. This is a service he owes the community as well as himself, for it is only by careful planning of individuals and responsible concerns that we can avoid major catastrophes which have wrecked less fortunate communities."

"Building restrictions are more complete, and adequate materials are less costly than ever before. A lower fire insurance rate will benefit all home owners and pass on to the next generation a finer, more substantial city."

Early Home Is Setting of Dual Celebration of Adams, Snow Decendants

H. J. Plumb's 'Top 'o the Morning' to You, In Paid Honor By Crowd

Housewarming Given For Recently Remodelled P. T. Adams House

In dual celebration of the recently completed remodeling of the old P. T. Adams home in Tustin, now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Plumb (she the former Frances Adams) and of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Plumb, members of the Adams and Snow families met at the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Cood Adams and surprised the Plumbs with a picnic dinner Saturday at their home.

The meal was served outside the home, under a fine old sycamore tree, which is estimated to be between 150 and 200 years old. The guests presented an easy chair to Mr. Plumb and a period rocker in maple to Mrs. Plumb.

54 Present for Day

Intervened with the development of this district is the history of the two families, whose history began here when P. T. Adams and Hiram K. Snow married daughters of Dr. Downs, Confederate surgeon, in the 60's, and settled on adjoining ranches at Tustin in 1876. Mr. Snow settled on the present A. J. Cruickshank place. Sons and daughters of these pioneer brothers-in-law and their families made up the 54 present at the party.

Terry Stephenson was called on to give a history of the Adams family. He was brought up in Orange by Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Adams. Mr. Adams was a brother of P. T. Adams. Mrs. Adams was Mr. Stephenson's aunt.

Live Pioneer Life

Mr. Stephenson in his review of the family said that in 1816, in North Carolina, Peter Adams married Sarah Walton, cousin of Daniel Boone, and they rode horseback over the mountains of Tennessee. Several sons were born to them, P. T. in 1834, being the youngest. They went by wagon to Texas in 1836. Later they settled in San Antonio and were in the cattle business, and driving herds through to Kansas. They encountered frequent Indian battles. Two Adams brothers were killed by Indians. Henry M. Adams of Anaheim and Cood Adams of Tustin, present for the day, were born in Texas.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Plumb and three sons, Don, Peter and Hugh; Mrs. Elva Snow, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. Otis Snow and two daughters, and Mr. and

Chatter of Doings at Laguna Beach

By MAXINE STOREY

Sports... clubs... activities... and elections! And the second year of the comparatively new Laguna High is in full swing! First student body meeting held Tuesday, September 24 saw activities begin in earnest and if the zest of the newly-elected student body officers counts, this year should be full of new projects and interesting experiments in student social life. Seems fitting to do this Laguna chatter column to the plans and officers of the various organizations so will give you glimpses of just what's going on in the school upon the hill.

First of all, the students have begun a fairly new idea in this section of organizing a junior-senior high and admitting members of the seventh and eighth grades to the student body. Gathered at the first meeting of the associates students Tuesday were some 300 campus-goers who enthusiastically welcomed and applauded the officers of their organization. They officially took over their new positions. President for the year is Johnny Chamberlain, captain of the football team last year and center on the eleven this year. Remember when Tustinite Charlie Kiser and S. A. J. C. Bud Gilbert and I were among those having the pleasure of initiating Johnny and at the time named him "chief-speech-maker." Don't think the Laguna lads and lassies could have chosen a better gavel-holder and leader. When Johnny is missing Brian Barrow will take over the gavel and taking notes at the desk will be June Wilson. Roy Seeman was elected keeper-of-the-funds and Dink Riesner will be parliamentarian. Class representatives composing the executive board are senior, Lucille Shaw; junior, Jean Louise Lyons; freshman, Virginia Miller, and eighth grade, Heronshi Farnsworth. Soph and seventh grade representatives haven't been chosen yet. And so the student body is off to a glorious start.

Determined to put Laguna on the map as a football team with color and fight against 20 lads who said and slide up and down the field each afternoon under the tutelage of the very popular "Red" Guyer, once nationally-known sprinter. On the regular line-up starting will be John Chamberlain, center; Dale Mickelwaite, right guard; Harold Walker, left guard; E. Beasor, left tackle; James Goff, right tackle; George Riddell, left end; Norman Jacobson, right end; A. Blacketer, right half; Robert Beck, left half; Dink Riesner, fullback; Bob Warboys, quarterback. Plus the starting line-up on the squad the pigskin chasers have Bob Smith, Dan Tavey, Kenny Nosler and Dana Southers, who played last year.

'Among the many new organizations in the making are a Radio club, Camera club, G. A. A., Lettermen's club, Hi-lighters and Girls' league. 'Specially interesting is the hope of the camera club members to become efficient enough as photographers to take and develop their own group pictures for the school annual.

Meanwhile the senior and junior class have elected their officers and are huddling together over plans for raising funds. Ted Cook, who up until this year went to Webb school and Miss Johnson's at Laguna, was elected leader of the graduating class with Bill Lawrence, vice-pres; Laura Boyd, treasurer, and Zelma Marshall to back him up. Dink Riesner will head the junior class; Louise Wilson, keeper-of-the-money-box, and Arthur Sherman will scratch minutes. Tom McClure was elected football manager.

Of foremost interest to Lagunatics is the hope of the grand weekly student-body program. Each Tuesday morning at 11 o'clock an open assembly will be held to which Lagunatics have been cordially invited. Tomorrow, Don Wilkie, criminologist, will speak on "Ethiopia." Following Mr. Wilkie, who by the way returned last week from a trip to Washington, D. C., is Ted Cook, Laguna's much-liked columnist.

Rebekah Head Visits At Sycamore

More than 300 persons from all districts of California gathered at the I. O. O. F. hall Saturday night to pay homage to Mrs. Mary Rebekah, president of the Rebekah assembly, on her first official visit in the south of the state, when she inspected Sycamore Rebekah lodge.

To each of the woman grand officers, an arm bouquet carrying out the crescent design with a moon and seven stars, was presented by Mrs. Gretta Mang, grand marshal, of Anaheim.

Accompanying Mrs. Rebekah and Mrs. Mang were Mrs. Helen Hum, Manhattan, grand warden; Mrs. Hannah Post of Berkeley, conductor; Mrs. Mable R. Seeley of San Diego; Mrs. Jessica Fournier of Los Angeles, Mrs. Stella Merrie of Long Beach, Mrs. Mary N. Pierce of Los Angeles, Mrs. Amelia Ostertag of Los Angeles, past presidents; Mrs. Julia Baker of Norwalk, vice president of ladies' auxiliary of patriarch militant; Robert Funk of Pomona, grand patriarch of grand encampment; Henry Mang of Anaheim, grand sentinel of grand encampment; Oscar Friis of Whittier, deputy grand patriarch of grand encampment; C. A. Palmer of Orange, past grand master of grand lodge; William Peterkin of Orange, brigadier general of patriarch militant; Clyde Banborough of Artesia, colonel of fourth regiment of patriarch militant; Mrs. Fern Smith of Los Angeles, deputy department president of district No. 54; Mrs. Blanche Chandler of Santa Ana, deputy district president of district No. 50 and Mrs. Lucille Rathbone of Santa Ana, deputy marshal of district No. 50.

In charge of arrangements for the inspection were Mrs. George Stovall, chairman; Miss Pearl Nicholson, chairman of decorations, assisted by Mrs. John Crawford, Mrs. W. E. West, and Mrs. A. R. Miller; Mrs. Beth McDonald, chairman of refreshments.

A bower of palms had been arranged for the grand officers, and baskets of colorful flowers decorated the dining hall, where refreshments were served at the close of the lodge session. Previous to the meeting, a dinner was given in the Green Café for a party of more than 50. Past Noble grand of Sycamore was in charge of the event. Mrs. C. D. Henderson, Miss Mabel Larriock, and Mrs. John Baker were in charge of arrangements.

FIRST DINNER PARTY GIVEN TO HONOR YOUNG GIRL

The thrill of being hostess at her first "real" dinner party was experienced by Marjorie Mize, young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Mize of 602 South Ross street when Mrs. Mize gave her a party Saturday evening in honor of her 12th birthday anniversary.

The late afternoon hours were spent in playing cards. Juanita Kirschen of Los Angeles, Margaret Rice and Phyllis Wetherell won prizes. Afterward, the guests found their places by means of flower namecards at a long table all in pink, with pink candles, a pink cake as centerpiece, and the general color motif echoed in the old-fashioned party frock worn by Marjorie.

Mrs. Ray Lambert assisted Mrs. Mize in the hostess preparations. Guests also included Dorothy Westover, Phyllis Bemus, Rosemary Blodgett, Louise Browning, Helen Crawford, Katherine Hambricht, Peggy Holloway, Lucille Lambert, Phyllis Luther, Patsy Miller, Charlotte Shafer and Ann Wetherell.

ONNOLEE ELLIOTT COMPLIMENTED AT BIRTHDAY PARTY

Onolee Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Elliott, was feted on occasion of her eighth birthday anniversary with a party which her mother gave for her Saturday afternoon at their home, 1032 West First street.

The guests were taken first to a matinee, and then brought to the home, where tables in the garden were gay with yellow and green party linens, favors and candies. A large angelfood birthday cake in the same colors was cut and served with ices and animal cookies.

Guests included Mesdames Fred Drake, Fred Perryman and Herbert Hildebrand, mothers, and Katherine Hildebrand, Betty Ejan Drake, Beverly Duncan, Bethel Bell, Shirley Pittlingrud, Helen Perryman, Betty Humphrey and Betty Stewart.

been cordially invited. Tomorrow, Don Wilkie, criminologist, will speak on "Ethiopia." Following Mr. Wilkie, who by the way returned last week from a trip to Washington, D. C., is Ted Cook, Laguna's much-liked columnist.

So much for Laguna Hi activities! Notice that several Laguna graduates and former Tustinites have meandered S. A. J. C. way this fall. 'Among those who entered the junior college halls of learning this year are George Bronner, Tom Haywood, Sam Piety, Marjorie McDonald, Wesley Wilson, Orville Skidmore, Bill Shields, George Walter and James Morris.

Until next week... adios!

Mary Stoddard Anne's Intellectual Attitude Is Dictated by Purity Of Mind and Candor, Says Reader

By MARY STODDARD

Again the question of morals for morals' sake or for the fun of living comes into prominence in a letter from a Modernist who agrees with sophisticated Anne. Smugness has no part in this reader's make-up. She's as free as her convictions will let her be. Her letter follows:

Dear Miss Stoddard: Far more shocking than any amount of smoking or drinking ever indulged in by the entire feminine sex is the utterly ill-bred, utterly contemptible attitude taken by some of those who disagree with "Anne." Her letter was at least an intelligent, fair-minded document. She mentioned herself and her husband only incidentally, while giving us clear conclusions based on observation and experience, carefully considered.

Let us take the charges that have been made, one by one, although they scarcely merit such serious consideration. She is "cheap"? Absurd on the face of it. Read her letter again. She is "sniveling"? You complete fools! Courage, kindness, and candor of a very high degree were essential to produce that letter. This is obvious in every phase. She is "deluded"? She is not; she is a thinker and the disciple of thinkers. Do the names of Mencken, Lewis and Shakespeare convey nothing to them who think with their cheap petty prejudices instead of their minds? I cannot wonder if it does not.

The most serious charge—the inference that she is probably unfaithful to her husband, and he to her, can only be dismissed by simply considering the source. It has, of course, no basis whatever except in the minds of its originators, and that alone is all that is necessary to show what these minds are. I wonder that she cared to take the trouble to "cast her pearls," for they will never be understood.

I agree with "Anne" on every point she made. And since my opponents have made personalities an issue in what should have been an abstract controversy, I will gladly draw some of their fire. I am 22 years old. I am single (from choice). I smoke continually, drink, and have been intoxicated.

ENGLISH TEA CAKES

By Mrs. W. H. DeWolfe

Santa Ana and Long Beach

One quart flour, 1/2 cup sugar, 5 tsp. baking powder, 1 tsp. salt, 1 1/2 cups seedless raisins, 1 cup butter or substitute, milk to make soft dough.

Mix dry ingredients, cut in shortening, make soft dough and divide into 10 or 12 small portions. Roll each on floured board to make cake about 1/4 inch thick. Bake 15 minutes in oven 450 degrees. It is not necessary to oil pan in which these are cooked. Very good when split and toasted.

The Thinkers

Wherein women of the community express their views on topics of particular interest to women.

What is your current problem with your child?

Mrs. Charles Dolbee: I have been working with my two-year-old daughter to cure her of her selfishness. I have been very successful in urging her to give up a plaything to her playmate, if she happens to have two toys with her. Teaching children to give in is most important in forming the right traits in their nature, I think.

Mrs. J. Ogden Markel: My son is just starting the second grade and I'm bending most of my efforts toward helping him with his work. I believe that with a boy it's wiser to start him into school later, rather than too early. Boys seem to be better with material things and more difficult to start in studying than girls.

Mrs. Dale Elliott: Getting my eight-year-old daughter to practice the piano is my present problem. I think keeping it a matter of schedule and sometimes rewarding her for being prompt about practicing is helping solve the situation.

Quiet Rites Unite Young Couple

A quiet wedding ceremony in which the Rev. A. E. Kelly, United Presbyterian minister, officiated Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock in his home on Orange avenue, united Miss Emma Endres, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Endres, 2202 Maple street, and Harmon Howard, son of Mrs. Lula Purky, 322 South Sycamore street. Only members of the two families were present.

The bride wore a smart autumn frock of deep green crepe trimmed with brown fur. Her hat was a shallow-crowned, wide-brimmed green felt, and she wore brown accessories and gardenia corsage. She was unattended.

A reception with the cutting of the traditional bride's cake followed, in the Endres home.

After a brief wedding trip the couple are at home to their friends this week at 611 Minter street.

The bride followed her graduation from Santa Ana High school by attending Johnson's Business college, and has been doing stenographic work in the office of Weber's Bakery, where her husband is also employed. He is also a Santa Ana High school graduate.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP

SANTA ANA as a community—which means every man and woman in this city—faces a challenge this week and next. The test is whether 5,000 individuals are good enough citizens to support the seven agencies supported by the Community Chest.

Santa Ana, in its last chest campaign, had only 2,600 contributors. That is its greatest weakness. Successful chest cities of this size have from 4,500 to 5,000 contributors. Santa Ana raised only $2,600, or much less than $1 per capita. It is reported that this city has a population of 33,000. Successful chest cities raise from $2 to $4 per capita.

THE erroneous impression that governmental agencies provide all that is needed in the relief field must be corrected. Witness the fact that a family must have lived in California for three years and in the county for one year to be eligible for aid. Also witness the fact that 912 families in Santa Ana needed relief but were not eligible during the past year. Also that 7,044 transients were taken care of with 3,260 free beds and 7,736 free meals. Without this service by the Salvation Army they would have been pan-handling on the streets and in the residential sections.

Four Santa Ana children received a year's care at this institution's Home for Children and seven unmarried mothers were received at their Rescue Home. Where would these girls, in their unfortunate predicament, have turned, had it not been for this service?

WITNESS that 14 individual veterans and their families had to have supplemental aid over and above that provided by government. Shall they, through their Veterans Welfare association, be denied even this small assistance? They gave a lot for their county and its ideals a few years ago.

Santa Ana has had a growth of 300 per cent during the past three years in girls afflicted with social disease. The only haven for them is the Ruth Home. Yet this institution is asking less than $1 per day for actual care of these unfortunate girls. They not only cure physically, they minister to the soul needs, and in almost every case these girls go from the home to become clean, respectable citizens and in most cases good mothers.

Shall Santa Ana take care of her own?

WITNESS four character-building agencies, understaffed and inadequately financed, attempting in the midst of enticing crime appeals and radical activities, to provide proper environment and right associations to develop habits of conduct and attitudes of mind that make for good, sound citizenship.

The Y. M. C. A. Two men on the job last year. A magnificent institution, built by the citizens of this community, allowed to operate with such a small staff that it cannot reach out for the boyhood and young manhood of this community. Functioning with a membership free for boys up to 16 years of age, that every boy may have this opportunity to participate in activities that will help him grow into manhood physically, mentally and spiritually fitted to take his place in life.

PICTURE one lone man, trained for the job, attempting to make available the character-building, citizenship-training activities of the Boy Scouts of America to the several thousands of boys in this city. Eighty-two men giving of their time as volunteer leaders now reaching 400 boys. Shall the community refuse to furnish the tools with which these men must work? How about a concrete vote of appreciation for their loyal, persistent service 52 weeks of the year in behalf of Santa Ana's boyhood?

The Y. W. C. A. A staff of two trained women. On enforced vacation during three months of the year (summer, when they are needed most) due to inadequate finances. Yet reaching into the lives of more than 1,100 girls and young women of this city.

The Girl Scouts of America with 16 women, giving of their time, and during this last year also of their money, that girls of Santa Ana who prefer this program to that of other organizations might have the constructive activities that cause them to grow into maturity fitted for their place in life as good, capable wives and mothers. Meeting in a garage (the women paying the rent out of their own slender pocketbooks). What will Santa Ana citizens do about this condition? Back these women or desert them?

THE Community Chest, rejuvenated and reorganized. Ready to operate efficiently, economically and wisely. Shall the citizens support these agencies through the Chest? This week very largely determines whether or not Santa Ana is interested in crime prevention at approximately $6 a year per boy and girl or $600 to $900 per boy or girl through an attempt to cure them after the disease has gained a foothold.

The Chicago Safety Council's expert says nine out of 10 persons don't know how to drive a nail without smashing a finger. What of it? Nine persons out of 10 never have to drive a nail.

Some people in Oklahoma City asked that a teacher be fired because he told his pupils that George Washington stayed out late at night. We wish the teacher had told where George stayed. in the woods?

Whimsies of O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Sept. 30.—Diary: Out in my new gray great-coat and came upon Frank Phillips, the oil man, and put in to see H. T. Webster, but he hooking salmon in Canada. Then meeting my wife and Lucy Virginia Long and stood a luncheon treat at the Colony with jaunty grace.

O. O. McIntyre

Home and a gentleman came with an avowal he could teach conversational French, in 10 minutes-a-day lessons, so one could be proficient in ten weeks. To my dentist, Guy Campbell, and with him to Dobbs Ferry to see his children and had a hanap of orange drink on the verandah.

Dinner with Verne Porter at a Chinese rookery in Pell street and a rough fellow and his tough lady had a brawl next table, the finest flow of Billingsgate ever I heard.

So through the pushcart market and I bought Porter a dime poem which he carried all the way home.

Bill and Anne Hamilton, whose stable-made-over home in the 20's has been the scene of so many celebrity gatherings, have settled down to a permanent exile in Luxembourg. Recently he was made Grand Ducal Consul General and so great is their popularity with the Belgians he was given the National Order of the Oak-leaved Crown, the highest governmental bestowal to foreigners.

Percy Hammond began his career as a printer's devil in the Ohio town with the bee sting name, Cadiz, and in an ambitious moment deserted his native heath for Washington, D. C., in the hope of acquiring a similar job.

Personal nomination for the most expert exponent of the modern goodness called double talk—Rube Goldberg.

Probably no magazine has so many editors who are authors in their own right as the Saturday Evening Post. George Horace Lorimer himself comes under that heading. His son Graeme and wife Sarah write salty books of the younger generation. Bruce Gould and his wife Beatrice are another story writing team with editorial posts. Wesley Stout, associate editor, is far better known as a writer. Even Pete Martin, the art editor, turns out modern stories under his proper name of W. Thornton Martin. Edwin Balmer, editor of the Red Book, is another editor who achieved success as an author. So has Will C. Lengle.

Broken blossoms: In a London antique jewelry shop the jeweled possessions of Gertrude Lawrence, who recently went through bankruptcy, are on sale. Among the treasures is an exquisite modern locket, square, with a center of black and white striped cloisonne in a frame of tiny diamonds and inside the locket it says: "To Gertrude from Doug."

Fashion jot: Arthur William Brown, illustrator, who is responsible for the blue shirts with canary yellow tie craze, has touched off a new horror. It is a center of black and white striped gingham shirt, like a housewife's apron, with crimson tie. He alternates with a wine colored Burgundy shirt, no tie, but with a matching breast pocket kerchief.

Bagatelles: Pitching horseshoes on Grantland Rice's lawn is one of the Sunday afternoon diversions at Easthampton. Somerset Maugham has a Polynesian symbol that appears on his gate-posts, stationery, playing cards and highball glasses. Buff Cobb has learned to use a dictaphone and finds she can write as well with it and ten times as fast. Clare Brokaw, summering at Cap Ferat, has finished a play, "Abide With Me," for Tallulah Bankhead. Mary Lewis got as thin as a rail at Marlenbad.

Lloyd Scholl sends the silly about the young mountaineer arriving home a day late for the funeral of a brother killed in a feud. He explained he had stopped over to take in the State fair. (Copyright, 1935)

UNDERSTANDING EMPLOYER AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Governor Alfred D. Smith how it is—used to be a stenographer himself. So the other day when he noticed an error in press copies of a message he had sent to the legislature, he told the girl: "That's all right, we'll change them right here with a pen. I know how those things happen."

WASHINGTON, Sept. 30.—It has not leaked out yet, but the postoffice department is quietly applying the scourge to ocean-mail contracts. Profiting from the sad experience when airmail contracts were cancelled, this crack-down is less spectacular but efficacious. The ocean-mail contracts contain provisions requiring mail ships to make a certain speed. For the first time this specification is now being checked up. So far, only one of nine mail-carrying vessels has met contract requirements. Failures are being reported to the comptroller general and he, in turn, is holding up mail payments. In one case, $400,000 has been withheld. The postoffice department also is considering the further step of seeking recovery of payments already made. . . . Secretary of State Hull, when asked if Iowa's Europe-roving Senator James P. Pope in any way represented the administration, snapped: "Neither directly nor indirectly, informally nor speculatively." . . . Giving the capitol a new coat of paint is not a trivial matter. The overall job now being done will cost about $28,000. . . . J. Edgar Hoover, hard-boiled nemesis of criminals, is a devotee of poetry, particularly the inspirational variety. On his desk is a framed reproduction of Kipling's "If."

SUPREME COURT HEALTH WHEN the supreme court convenes Monday, Oct. 7, all nine justices will be in their places and in good health. Rumors of Justice Cardozo being ill are groundless. . . . The highest mountain in Idaho, 12,655 feet, is named for Idaho's tallest postal figure, J. M. Borah. . . . Back in the war days when Steve Early, now the President's secretary, was a United Press newsman covering the state department, his principal competitor was the Associated Press newsman, Bill Hassett. Twenty years passed, and Early, whose White House duties have been heavier since the illness of Louis Howe, turned to his old rival. Hassett became Early's aide last week. . . . Two high spots in the American travels of Brazil's Ambassador Oswaldo Aranha, who motored across the country this summer, were the day spent in the Grand Canyon of the Yosemite, and the night spent in the mining town of Elko, Nev., where he won $5 in 15 minutes at roulette. (He also had tea with Herbert Hoover).

NEW LOBBY? SENATE lobby investigators are quietly checking up on the Transportation Association of America, a newcomer to Washington, which has all the earmarks of a huge lobby. Announced purpose of the organization is to fight government ownership in transportation facilities. . . . One reason General Hugh Johnson resigned as head of the WPA in New York City was that constant contact with human misery was getting on his nerves. . . . Washington tourist guides estimate that more out-of-town cars pass the White House daily than any other spot in the United States. . . . Former Senator C. C. Dill, recently returned to the capital from a political survey of the country, is intimating that the administration wants him to run for governor of Washington next year. The incumbent, Clarence D. Martin, is a Democrat, but got considerably in wrong with organized labor in his

One Man's Opinion

By Duncan Ellsworth Clark

EDITOR'S NOTE—Here is an informative, analytical daily feature on current topics. The opinions expressed in this column are not necessarily the same as those held by The Journal.

Meddling by the Government

THE government's attempt to restrict production of agricultural commodities starts a dizzy circle as such foolish schemes usually do. The cotton belt is the traditional home of Democracy and demanded first attention from the professional fixers. Cotton was selling low. Huge surplus stocks were carried over. What simpler remedy than to curtail the growing of cotton? So the dictum went forth from Washington and various methods were tried to discourage the bountiful earth. Production was limited, stocks were destroyed, prices were boosted. Foreign demand for American cotton is rapidly declining and domestic consumption is decreasing.

The same general story applies to wheat and to the lowly peanut and to every other product which the government tries arbitrarily to control. Pork and beef have been given federal "protection," with mounting prices and falling demand.

POTATO raising has been a hum-bie business. Nothing startling about it. No one section of the country controls the potato market. It is one staple food which may be raised anywhere, in any quantity. A steady item in the national diet the price has not been violently fluctuating. But the cotton producers, denied the use of their land for cotton, have turned to raising potatoes. The potato farmers in Maine and everywhere else are raising a roar that their market is threatened with a flood of potatoes. Congress, in an exalted spirit of something or other during the last

Howdy, folks! The football season is in full swing. Gosh, we can hardly wait to sit in the stadium and have some frenzied fan behind us bang us over the head with his umbrella.

Lil Gee Gee is mad at the office boy. She told him she was going to have her face lifted, and he suggested that she have it removed.

NEW ALTITUDE RECORD Basil W. Bunion, field aviator, set a new altitude record yesterday by soaring to the height of five miles, or nearly as high as the price of pork chops.

A recent census shows that the population of Washington, D. C., has increased 78,000, but doesn't give the names of the commissions on which they are serving.

DIRGE The oceans are full of fishes. The forests are full of trees. The orchards are full of apples. The dogs are full of fleas. The cities are full of people. The papers are full of verse. The only thing that's empty is my purse.

Almost the lowest thing in the line of compliments was a remark overheard this morning in a bus argument, "You're still wrong, again."

Ed: How do you know there has been a picnic here? Zeb: I see by the papers.

ABIGAIL APPLESAUCE SEZ: "People are like automobiles—th' faster they go the more money they burn."

Modern Version: And so they were married and lived happily for many, many payments.

INDIGNATION What makes me sore Is the way Liz Bleet Wears high-heeled shoes On steamboat feet.

"Oh, George, do you realize it's almost a year since our honeymoon, and that glorious day we spent on the sands? I wonder how we'll spend this one?" "On the rocks."

"Sir Reginald de Gaspipe," he exclaimed, "you have reduced me to beggary, broken the heart of my aged mother, and eloped with my wife. But beware! Don't go too far!"

Remarkable Remarks

Relationships among people in a community for the purpose of promoting their individual welfare and their community interests . . . are in many respects no more important than proper international relationships. —Secretary Hull.

If it weren't for Adolf Hitler, Germany would have been taken over by the Communists. —Matthew Mellon, nephew of Andrew W. Mellon.

So long as land is a monopoly and men are denied free access to it, the poverty and unemployment will exist. —Viscount Snowden.

SKINNY SKRIBBLES

Around and About Town

Another complaint from the yodel sector. It seems the early morning hours are inspirational. Not long ago this column referred to a janitor who introduced his work with a vocalization which pleased him, but displeased his neighbors. Comes now another yowl from inhabitants of an apartment who assert that men collecting refuse give noisy "back-up" and go-ahead orders. If they only had a switch engine you would think they were in a railroad terminal. What I would suggest is a muffler system. They better use it rather than have an infuriated neighborhood directing miscellaneous articles of furniture in their direction, with an indifferent regard as to where or whom they hit.

The orange season is drawing to a close, but its drawn too close to suit most of the growers. Won't be long now until reports will be coming in explaining how it happened.

Ted Cook, other than the Laguna illuminary, is reported to me as having a weakness for hunting and fishing. So far during his career he has confined himself to deer and game, but an intimate friend who has occasionally encountered Ted at the seashore, says it wouldn't surprise him any time now if Ted did not enlarge his sporting proclivities and start hunting for pearls. Ted's friend turned in this information in a confidential way, and asked me to say nothing about it. After he had gone a few rods he turned around and said: "Oh Promise Me." Now what do you think he is talking about.

President Roosevelt is scheduled to be in Santa Ana tomorrow. Guess he don't know I'm here. Anyway haven't been invited to accompany him to San Diego, and I haven't hit a telephone pole, either. Could go just as well as not. This item should be classified as "Much Adoo about nothin'."

Bassett, Jr., son of Goodrich Bassett, says how about a little publicity? When the demand is made for justification for such request he says more new tires on the pavement than ever before. Bein' from near Missouri he tries to show me and I catch him black-handed. He has a system whereby he mystifies his patrons. He puts on a dark application of what appears to be paint, draws a silver circle about the tire, and when you call for your car the first impression is that Bassett gave you a new set of tires, and the second impression is that he didn't. Which paraphrase means all is not new that appears so.

And now they are talking about winter again. I will stand by my original statement that God will have to solve the water problem for Orange county. I've a lot more faith in Him than I have in Riverside or San Bernardino counties. They are a bunch of chiselers, engaged in spreading operations which do not include Orange county. If that's brotherly love I've got enough.

You know, after a little investigation made today about a certain matter I am persuaded that Solomon knew what he was talking about when he said, "All men are liars."

Art Skipkey comes over from Anaheim to tell me that he's got to go to Los Angeles to attend the U. S. C. and Montana football game, and I says why the heckens does he have to start from Santa Ana, and finally I find out that both tickets are here. Skipkey has a brother who plays professional football and the bug has permeated the rest of the family, so Art comes over to Santa Ana to get the two tickets he paid for so he can take a friend, when he could just as well have started from Anaheim without any friends. Boy, this football game has some cock-eyed ramifications.

It's the shootin' season and some fellows are not particular what they shoot "at," to use a congressional phrase. So when I get in front of Charley Swanson's window he reaches for a gun and says stand out there about ten paces and see what happens. Say, that fellow may be William Tell, but I am the son of another father.

Finished the copy for this column at 3 p. m. Saturday afternoon, just punctual like, because George Angle said I had to go with him to Huntington Beach. That fellow seems to have an uncanny influence over me. When he says I got to go I don't want to go, and after I go the trip amounts to just so much gasoline. My only reason for submitting to George's persuasion is the hope that "if at first you don't succeed try, try again," and maybe some day we can get an oil lease.
